Bus deal could return Trombly

By FRANK J. AMATO

WILMINGTON - A proposed deal between Bruce Transportation and Trombly Motor Coach Service could have Trombly buses rolling in Wilmington once again next fall.

The agreement would allow the two bus companies to exchange school transportation contracts.

Bruce Transportation has two years remaining on its contract with Wilmington. Trombly recently won the contract in Chelmsford. Bruce Transportation has been the vendor in Chelmsford for three years.

The deal, which has already been approved in Chelmsford, pending action by the Wilmington School Committee would become effective with the 1999-2000 school year.

"We really like the town of Wilmington, and would like to return," said Mike Trombly of Trombly Motor Coach Service. "We have been there since 1952, when my dad ran the company. It's like home," Trombly added.

Bruce Transportation, which recently purchased a 6 bay maintenance facility in Chelmsford, and also provides transportation for the Greater Lowell Vocational Technical School in Tyngsboro has a large financial interest in remaining in Chelmsford. "We have 54 buses that are housed there. To lose the 30 buses that we use for Chelmsford would be a big loss," said Bruce Lyskawa,

Arrested on indecent exposure charges

By GORDON VINCENT and PAUL HAYES

WOBURN - A Saugus man suspected of exposing himself to women in nearly two dozen communities - and who may be connected to similar incidents in Wilmington and Tewksbury - was apprehended by Woburn and State Police on Monday.

Patrick J. Laterza, 29, plead not guilty to all charges, and has been ordered to undergo 20 days of psychiatric evaluation. He will spend the next three weeks at Bridgewater State Hospital.

Wilmington and Tewksbury Police are investigating whether Laterza is connected to two separate incidents that occurred the week before his arrest.

In Wilmington, an Isabella Way resident reported that a suspect in a car similar to the one Laterza drove, with a license plate matching the one on Laterza's vehicle, had exhibited suspicious behavior.

The complaint was received on Friday at 12:50 p.m., prior to Laterza's arrest, and was investigated by Det.'s James White and Thomas Miller arrived.

In Tewksbury, a female notified police that a man indecently exposed himself to her at the OSCO parking lot, 1777 Main St., sometime early last week. According to Lt. Dennis Peterson, the female's description of the suspect and his vehicles bear many similarities to Laterza and his vehicle.

Peterson also confirmed the license plate on Laterza's vehicle had been stolen from a Tewksbury resident on or around May 27.

Laterza was arrested by Woburn and State Police after a high-speed chase that began in the MOOSE ON THE LOOSE: Residents in the Deming Way area were treated to the sight of a 400 pound cow moose Friday afternoon. The moose was first sighted in Billerica, and sauntered into Wilmington. The chase began around 6:00 a.m. when Environmental Police Officer Paul Norton, who lives in Billerica was summoned to the scene by Billerica Police. Norton took aim at the docile moose with a tranquilizer rifle on Deming Way. The moose was eventually drugged and tracked to an area near Deming Way Extension. Police brought in a ramp tow truck to cart the moose to the Stone Zoo, but she got up and fled the scene with Wilmington Police Officer Steve LaRivee hot on her trail. They found her again, but decided to let her leave on her own. The moose is still on the lamb. (Frank Amato photo).

Assault on an 11 year old girl

By FRANK J. AMATO

WILMINGTON - An 18 year old Wilmington man was arrested by detectives Thursday, June 3rd on charges that he indecently assaulted an 11 year old girl in Wilmington Plaza, Memorial Day morning.

Michael DiNunzio, 18, was arrested after being questioned by Inspector Pat King.

The assault allegedly took place in the parking lot directly in front of Market Basket about 10:30 a.m.. Police are not releasing any other information due to the age of the victim.

DiNunzio pleaded not guilty in Woburn District Court, Thursday afternoon, and according to Middlesex District Attorney Spokesman Anson Kaye, was released, pending his next appearance in court on the following conditions: he stay away from the victim and her family, and the site of the alleged attack, continue with his therapy, and medication, and check in with probation.

The case is being prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney Donna Ashton.

If anyone was in the vicinity of the Wilmington Plaza parking lot, Memorial Day around 10:30 a.m. and saw anything suspicious, they should contact Inspector King at 657-7149. All calls will be held in strict confidence.

Outdoor graduation ceremony comes off without a hitch

By KRISTEN SARDYNSKI

WILMINGTON - "Somehow I know we will all meet again...until that time comes remember who you are and where you've come from," said 1999 Class President Mark DiGiovanni at Wilmington High School's Commencement Exercises held Sunday, June 6 at Alumni Field.

Hundreds of family members and friends gathered to see the 158 graduates. Also honored at the ceremony were five retiring teachers of Wilmington High School including student elected Teacher of the Year Richard Scanlon.

Principal Edward Woods addressed the students with a touching speech mentioning the recent loss of his mother, and urged students to appreciate the little things. He said that the impact of his personal loss gave him time to reflect on himself and learn how to celebrate life.

Woods encouraged graduates to "think of others, smile often, cherish families, remember old friends, make new ones, tell those you love that you love them, dream, hope, give, give in, keep a promise, laugh heartily, reach out, slow down, listen to the rain, make some mistakes, learn from them, and celebrate your life."

Class Essayist Josh Michaud connected to the students by referring to a line from a Van Halen song, "Right Now - it means everything." Michaud stressed the importance of living for the moment and not forgetting the importance of family and friends in striving for future success.

Michaud told the story of a fictional character, Josh, whose "lifelong mistake was his obses-

Crackdown on illegal tobacco sales

By PAUL HAYES

Two stores were caught selling tobacco products to minors, during a recent sweep conducted by the town Tobacco Control Program.

DeMoulas Supermarket, 240 Main St. and Wilmington Shell gas station, 586 Main St., will be fined $300 each for selling tobacco to minors, those under the legal tobacco purchasing age of 18.

DeMoulas will also lose their license to sell, display or advertise tobacco products for seven days, because this was their second offense within a years time. They also sold tobacco to a minor on August 6 of last year.

According to Tobacco Control Program director Linda Kanter, compliance checks are conducted with the assistance of minors. The minors are instructed to attempt to purchase tobacco products, and if they are sold these products the stores are fined.

Since the Tobacco Control Program began their compliance checks in 1994, 15 separate establishments have been found selling tobacco to minors, eight on multiple occasions. Other businesses were also found selling tobacco to minors, in separate compliance checks conducted in February by the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

Kanter said approximately half documented illegal tobacco sales were made by employees who were under the legal age of 18, including those at DeMoulas and Shell. This raises the question whether minors should be entrusted selling a product they are not legally allowed to possess.

Minors are suspected of selling cigarettes to friends, who are also minors, said Kanter.

But confirming this fact has been difficult. One reason being that, during compliance checks, the minors attempting to buy cigarettes on behalf of the Tobacco Control Program are instructed not to attempt purchases if they know the employee making the sale, Kanter said.

However, Sunrise Market at 327 Main St. avoids having minors sell tobacco products, because the store does not employ minors.

"It alleviates peer pressure concerns," said Sunrise owner Chris Philoridis.

To combat the sale of cigarettes, cigars and chewing tobacco to minors by employees of all ages, stores take a variety of precautions.

Registers will soon appear at DeMoulas, and already operate at OSCO, that require the cashier to enter the birthday of a tobacco purchaser. The transaction can not be completed until the birthday is entered. In addition, stores post the state laws and penalties pertaining to tobacco sales, and explain tobacco sales rules to employees.

Kanter said store managers need to educate employees on the rules and procedures governing tobacco sales, adding that employees must get into the habit of checking identification of anyone appearing up to 27 years of age for all tobacco sales, as required by federal law.

"It's the same as if a person gets a beer at the Fleet Center or Fenway Park," Kanter said. "They need to show I.D."

YOUR CELL PHONE AND TAXES

The cell phone is no longer the wave of the future; it's here. All across America, there are fewer phone booths in public places and more and more people calling on their own phones.

Many cell phone users find them essential for business communications. A business expense? Yes, but taking the deduction is not as easy as it would seem. The user must have records—bills and a diary explaining each call—to prove the amount of business use of the phone, even if it is used exclusively for business. Of course, if there is personal use as well, only that percentage that is business use is deductible. In addition, the phone will not qualify for accelerated depreciation unless it is used more than 50 percent for business.

Even if the company supplies the phone, the employee/user still must keep business-use records. Otherwise, the company loses the deduction and the phone's full value is taxable to the employee.

Small business, big business—we'll help you meet the requirements for tax deductions. Talk to the tax people at

Dear Editor:
I am writing in response to two articles in the June 2, 1999 edition of the Town Crier:

Board of Health Finds No Apparent Link Between Cancer Cases by Paul Hayes and Opinion Article, An Unhealthy Situation/Learning, Leading and Getting the Job Done by Paul Hayes.

I'd like first to address the claim there is no apparent link between the cancer cases in the area of Dunton Road and Nassau Ave. as indicated in the article titled Board of Health Finds No Apparent Link Between Cancer Cases by Paul Hayes. The tests cited in the article as being complete (lead and radon), were conducted by the BOH due to concerns raised at previous meetings but can not be "linked" to cancer for they are not carcinogenic. The 21E testing as stated by the director are not in yet. I have attended ALL the Board of Health (BOH) meetings concerning this issue. It was my understanding that the BOH could not make a determination of any links to the cancer cases until ALL testing and results were received, especially from the state Department of Public Health. I did not leave the meeting this past Tuesday with the impression that this was the determination of the Board. I do not remember that position being taken and wonder if this is the position of the panel or the position of the reporter.

There was discussion among the Board at the beginning of the meeting that I could not hear. The reporters were in the front row so it is possible that the reporter heard something I did not and I did leave the room for about 15 minutes, so maybe it was stated then. I just can't believe that the panel would be irresponsible in making such a determination if all the facts have not been made a part of the record and may I add this has been a point continually made by the Board; absolutely no determination one way or another can be made until the study by the state Department of Public Health is in and analyzed. We (the audience) were told this study will direct the Board in what direction, if any they need to go.

This has been a statement continually made by the Chair. Furthermore, I find it hard to believe a responsible panel like this would back pedal on that position in such an important and often emotional issue. If this were true it would only discredit the progress the Board and the citizens have been working very hard to achieve; trying to better understand an often complicated and trying circumstance.

I hope this issue can be addressed with the board at the next meeting to determine if, in fact this is their position. It is important for people to remember that perception and realities are equally important. When the perception out weighs the realities, mistrust and turbulence may follow. If the perception and assumption are that there are no links in the cancer cases, when the facts are that ALL the information has not been tabled, then those who come to these conclusions are only fueling the flames of confusion. It is not fair to the families who are trying to come to grips with a terrible situation of having sick children to allow the perception to misrepresent the realities.

I would now like to touch on how the Opinion Article referenced earlier (and that is just what this article was, an opinion) is disappointing. It is unfortunate that the challenging issues that we are facing in this town are turning into an us against you mentality. Maybe Mr. Hayes intended to defuse the situation. Although, this is not the perception I got from reading such an inflammatory statement. Many times environmental issues are extremely complicated and it involves many hours of research for citizens to understand them on a scientific and professional level.

It's true that at the last BOH meeting mistakes were made, but, then the facts were presented and the misunderstandings were cleared up. It is also true, that unnecessary verbal exchanges were made on both sides. My question is; where is compassion for the human element? Many of these people who attend these meetings are in the learning process of process itself. Some of these people come to these meetings carrying emotional baggage relevant to the issues. Being a mother of three little ones, I pray I never have to walk in their shoes. These people are in pain. Inflammatory articles and statements focus on the negative, drawing attention away from the real issue.

I question the motivation to go out of one's way to do such. I ask you (anyone) were in this situation and you believed your child may have gotten sick from possible environmental factors, (please, consider that 90 percent of childhood cancers are caused by environmental factors), would you always be able to conduct yourself in a patient and unemotional manner? I would also like to ask Mr. Hayes to please have some compassion for those who are in the thick of this issue trying to perform this difficult yet essential task and to please not discredit those who are only trying to make a positive contribution, even if they fall short of protocol every once in a while.

Personality conflicts are a waste of time commenting on. Let's show some understanding to one another, come together, and address the real issue; sick children.

Thank you, and Respectfully,
Suzanne Sullivan

Shame on you, Post 136!

Dear Editor:

Let me start by saying to the V.F.W., Marine Corps League and the Memorial Day Committee, "job well done" and to the American Legion Post 136, Wilmington, "shame on you."

For the first time in over 40 years that this writer knows of the American Legion Post 136 did not do its job. This was their year to MC the Memorial Day activities and they, Commander Thomas Carol and Sr. Vice Commander Joseph Steen, (Past Dept. Commander) failed to make any Memorial Day Committee meetings and had to be sent letters by the committee that due to their lack of interest and failure to make any meetings, the V.F.W. was to assume their duties.

I hope that the board of selectmen and the town remember this when the American Legion applies for their quarters money next year.

Thomas J. Marden

Cartoon wasn't PC

Dear Editor:

The editorial cartoon labeling die hard Star Wars fans as "Geeks" only serves to differentiate and separate people rather than bring us together. I would hope that in this day and age we could broaden our horizons a bit. By the cartoonist's standards, kids need to wear dark sunglasses and call others names to be hip and that the "normal" way to enjoy summer is for the men to cook barbecues while women wear bikinis.

Respect and understanding of people's differences would surely help cut down on the recent spate of school violence. Belittling others for being different from you continues to be too easy.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

This is being written in response to the Opinion article that appeared in the June 3, 1999 edition of the Town Crier entitled: "An unhealthy situation: Learning, leading and getting the job done" that was authored by Paul Hayes. I find it interesting, and somewhat surprising that Mr. Hayes has totally misrepresented my position, and that of Wilmington Citizens Against Pollution, in relation to environmental issues and health here in Wilmington.

I have known Mr. Hayes and have been talking with him for almost a year. I have provided him with information and documentation throughout that time in an effort to communicate the facts in an efficient and careful manner, mostly in relation to the 128 Collision Center, located at 275 Main Street, and one document last week regarding water testing results that were ordered by the Town of Wilmington. In my last conversation with him, he had called me and asked if I was pleased with the efforts that the Town of Wilmington was making in response to the cancer question, and I had said yes, I was encouraged by all of the environmental testing that was being done. I also stated to Mr. Hayes during this conversation that I thought our community was taking more of a positive and proactive role in trying to correct and address environmental issues. I am glad and grateful that ordinary citizens go to town meetings and ask questions, pick up documents about their environmental surroundings and care enough to want to know what's going on. We also have the right to know the answers to the questions that are being asked, and we have the right to ask those questions and make reasonable statements during the course of a public meeting.

In relation to the environmental questions and problems with the toxic air emissions we have had on Brand Avenue in relation to the 275 Main Street site, many positive and promising changes are being addressed, or have taken place. On March 17, 1999, the EPA Region 1 office sent a letter to the owners of TRS-CM Realty Trust, CJ Patti and Thomas McMannus. This letter is a formal request regarding access to the property at 275 Main Street in order to perform a site inspection. The former Wilmington Ford site has been on the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA) Superfund site list since 1995.

The site is also currently addressing wastewater violations that were located in the auto body shop area, under the direct supervision of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP). On March 1, 1999, a letter was to my attention from Elaine Krueger, Chief Environmental Toxicology Unit, Bureau of Environmental Health Assessment (BEHA), with the MA Department of Public Health, in relation to my children's health and the 275 Main Street site. Noxious fumes being discharged into the atmosphere caused my children to become ill. Doctors from Boston Children's Hospital Pediatric Environmental Health Center determined that the ailments suffered by my children were consistent with exposure to airborne isocyanate chemical vapors.

These are the same types of chemicals that were listed on the Material Safety Data Sheets (MSDS) for the auto body shop at 275 Main Street. The adverse health effects suffered by exposure to these toxins are: skin and eye irritation, respiratory dysfunction, liver or kidney disease and neurological damage. The letter from MA DPH confirmed xylenes and toluene emissions in my neighborhood and that the potential for harm and health problems strongly exists here due to these chemical releases.

Under the advice of Town Counsel Alan Altman, the Town of Wilmington is pursuing the matter in the Woburn District Court under a nuisance violation. My understanding is that the process is moving forward towards a trial date and if the auto body shop is found guilty in court, they can be fined up to $1,000 per day per violation. So these actions taken by the various agents and agencies, I believe, are done in an effort to serve the community and that, indeed, is very encouraging.

I still prefer that 275 Main Street be required to develop a pollution prevention plan. The members of Wilmington Citizens Against Pollution presented a proposal to the Board of Selectmen on February 22, 1999, to come to a reasonable solution so that residents and the auto body can co-exist peacefully and in good faith. Included in the request was that the business develop a pollution prevention plan.

We suggested that this plan be developed in consultation with the Massachusetts Office of Technical Assistance (OTA) and a licensed Toxics Use Reduction Planner (TURP). The OTA is a state agency which provides free technical assistance to companies on how to prevent waste and pollution. The OTA has developed a program for assisting auto body shops. TURPs are consultants which have been licensed by the state to help companies develop plans on how to reduce their use of toxic materials. This was done in an attempt to create a non-adversarial position between all parties involved and in the spirit of cooperation. It was also done to address the long term solutions to the problem, which is cleaning the existing hazardous waste that is already there and preventing the business from creating more health threatening pollution.

There were many things that Paul Hayes was wrong about in his opinion of me, Bruce MacNeill and of Wilmington Citizens Against Pollution.

He claims that we, meaning myself and Bruce MacNeill, hold a "grudge" against Wilmington Board of Health Director Gregory Erickson, and that is why we are pursuing the issue regarding the suspected cancer cluster. It is untrue that we are motivated in these matters because of any type of personality conflicts between us and Mr. Erickson, or anyone else, for that matter. The health and environmental concerns being addressed are valid and have merit all on their own.

Another false assumption made by Mr. Hayes was his stating that "Her attitude clashed with Erickson, who preferred to avoid an adversarial situation." It was never my "attitude," my intention, nor my goal, to create an antagonistic situation with Mr. Erickson. My goal, and that of Wilmington Citizens Against Pollution, is pollution prevention. We don't want to have to worry about disease that could be caused by hazardous environmental exposures. The human price - most notably, our children, is too high to ignore these very obvious risks to their health. And Wilmington Citizens Against Pollution is not "a third party creating an atmosphere of distrust and tension" for these cancer victims and their families. In fact, WCAP was contacted by the cancer families themselves before the WBOH ever heard of the suspected cancer cluster.

The families were looking for help and assistance in bringing attention to the matter. I did not seek them out, they sought WCAP out, found my phone number and called me. They tell me they are grateful for my involvement and for working tirelessly for their concerns. And I have not "changed my focus" because I chose to help some residents who asked for it. If anything, it has broadened my perspective on the scope of the environmental problems that are present in Wilmington. Knowledge is power and I am learning my lessons well.

It is unfortunate Paul Hayes doesn't understand that, and according to his article, neither does the Wilmington Board of Health. Again, I quote his piece: "Erickson has assumed an equally resentful tone toward Peterson and MacNeill. After the meeting Erickson said, 'certain people want to challenge us and call us liars.' He continued to say that these people try to embarrass the Board of Health, rather than seek information. 'It's a sham, especially from those who tout themselves as an environmental group,' Erickson said. In addition, the board members rolled their eyes and hid smiles when Peterson or MacNeill spoke."

I don't remember being ridiculed by the board at the BOH meeting. I was too busy trying to address the very critical health subjects that are before the Town of Wilmington. However, I am disgusted that a "degreed professional on the town board of health" would characterize a citizen activist group a "sham." In fact, it has been the work of the members of WCAP, and other grassroots environmental citizens' groups, that have brought on many of the positive actions that are being taken by local, state and federal agencies in an effort to resolve the environmental issues in Wilmington.

Not myself, Bruce, or anyone from WCAP has approached Mr. Erickson, or any member of the WBOH and called them "liars." There may be disagreements with the panel, but no one has accused anyone of being a "liar." And if the BOH members were making mocking gestures during times that Bruce and I were addressing the board, it certainly would be reprehensible behavior coming from an official town committee that's appointed to serve the very citizens whom they poke their fun at, or try to discredit, when we come before them for answers. And that's all we want - concrete explanations - not a dance around the issues, in an effort to avoid providing answers that we, the residents of Wilmington, have every right to know!

I don't mind admitting that mixing up "microgram vs. milligrams" on a water test report isn't the first mistake I've made in my life, and it probably won't be the last. I do my best to be careful of such mistakes, but I am human, and I am not perfect. But, Paul Hayes sure has made me aware of a big mistake that I've already made: the one where I thought that if I provided a reporter, such as Mr. Hayes, factual information and documentation over the course of an entire year, it would enable him to understand the very significant aspects of what the goals and intentions are of myself and of Wilmington Citizens Against Pollution. Instead, it seems he has chosen to ignore the facts and base his opinion on assumptions and accusations.

Land owners - Beware!

Dear Editor:

Do you have a deed stating you own land in Wilmington? We have.

More than 25 years ago a local, well known surveying company plotted out land for us. Then an established local lawyer drew up the deed and registered that land. A respected local community bank accepted that deed.

That deed has two parcels of land on it. One parcel was used for building a home on (many of you might remember the ordeal we endured over receiving our building permit). The other parcel was set up so that "if and when," the road was developed that piece would need to be purchased from us.

Well, the "if" was really only a matter of time as anyone who has lived in Wilmington anytime is well aware of. The "when" is now (again after an ordeal to our family). The other land owners were paid for their portion of the road. We were not.

TEWKSBURY - DEREK FAVREAU AND LAUREN BIBB were honored with the Dave Scott Scholarship. Susie Scott, Amy Scott, Shawn Scott, Robin Scott, Kathy Favreau, gathered to congratulate Derek Favreau and Lauren Bibb, with Gerry Bibb and Don Bibb. Lauren Bibb and Derek Favreau were the winners of the second annual Dave Scott Scholarship. Both great athlete scholars, they celebrated with 250 friends and relatives at the Northmeadow Health and Racquet Club on May 22

Senior Topics

TEWKSBURY - The monthly meeting of the Tewksbury Golden Age Club was held and newly elected Vice President William Ewen was welcomed. One of the topics of discussion was updating the current files. Those who have changed address or phone number or have not had a new picture taken for the files are urged to leave their name and phone number at the Senior Center and someone from the Membership Committee will contact you.

July 13 will be the annual cook-out. As usual the tickets for this affair sell out quickly. As in the past this is a function for only paid up members of the Golden Age Club. There will also be entertainment. Tickets will go on sale after the next meeting, June 8. Cost is $4 per person.

The Friar Tuck is now full.

Italy - For those interested in going to Italy, deposits are now due. Please contact Rose McKenna at the Senior Center, 640-4480 and questions will be answered as soon as possible.

Preparation for the fall show is now in full swing. Dates for meetings will be posted on the Golden Age Club bulletin board.

New Years Eve, 1999-2000. This year is a biggie. New Year's Eve tickets are now on sale. Every Tuesday and Thursday between 9 and 11 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m. The tickets will be on sale until June 17 only. Cost is $50 for paid up members and $55 for non-members. Tickets are

This past month we have lost two of our Golden Age Club members - Millie Casale and Harold (Bud) Thomas. Our deepest sympathy to their families. They will be sadly missed.

Happy birthday and happy anniversary to everyone celebrating this month.

Rose McKenna, President
Tewksbury Golden Age Club

Internet camp with a splash at the Tech

BILLERICA - Both "surfing" and swimming will be part of the summer programs at Shawsheen Tech. An Internet Computer Camp for students entering grades four through 10 will include sessions on using a computer and the World Wide Web, doing research on the Internet, and learning word processing to prepare a research paper. Students will also check out computer graphics in the school's Commercial Art and Design Laboratory, scan text and pictures into a computer, take photos with a digital camera, and gain tips on using color, templates and clip art. For a cool break from all this "cool" computer learning, campers will use the school's Olympic size pool for water games and free swim.

The program takes place from July 6-16, from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and costs $175 per participant.

A Girls Championship Softball Sports Camp is open to students grade five and up, and features coaching by Ed Henry, whose teams have taken state titles eight times. A coach and official for 18 years, Henry's teams have an incredible 61-7 record in tournament play. This former Boston Globe Coach of the Year will be assisted by an experienced coaching staff. All phases of the game will be included from fielding to hitting to sliding. There will be instructional films, "softball" contests and specific drills for all positions. This camp takes place from August 9-13, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and costs $170.

Basketball camps for girls and boys entering grades five through 11, will also be offered. Girls camp takes place July 26-30 and boys camps take place August 2-6. Both camps run from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and cost $110 for the first family member and $75 for additional family members. There will be three separate age groups for most camp activities, with Shawsheen coaches teaching individual and team skills. Free swim is also available for all campers in the school's Olympic size pool.

Shawsheen will teach summer academic classes in a three week session from July 6-23, with morning and afternoon hours. Morning classes for high school academic makeup run from 8 to 11 a.m. and include biology/health, English 9, 10 and 12, U.S. history, world history, algebra I and II, physical education, and keyboarding/word processing. Afternoon sessions, from 11:20 to 2:20 will be offered in earth science, English 9 and 11, general/business math, geography/social studies, geometry and algebra.

Tuition is $135 per course. Walk-in registration is available June 28 to July 2. Students may also register by mail or email.

For an application for camps or academic makeup, call the school at 978-667-2111, ext. 103, or send email to jmcd@shawsheen.tec.ma.us. Send applications by July 1; registration is first come, first served.

Wilmington Library Notes

Wednesday Wilmington Will Weally be Wacky

WILMINGTON - Wednesday, June 16, will not be an ordinary Wednesday in Wilmington. The library will be presenting "Wacky Wednesday," which takes its name from the book by Theo LeSieg. This event marks the beginning of the library's summer reading program with the statewide theme "Funny Things Happen When You Read." The Wacky fun begins at 6 p.m. on the Town Common with the arrival of the Shriners' clowns who will be on hand to tickle everyone's funny bone. Music will be provided by Gary Morin, accordionist. Children can visit with the "Animal Ambassadors," a selection of wild animals. Both these performers are funded by the Community Partnerships for Children grant.

Children will be able to sign up for the summer reading club and receive their reading kits which include a reading log and a list of fun and funny events at the library. There will be "riddle-icious" treats donated by Jack Smillie, and refreshments provided by the Friends of the Library. Volunteers will be on hand to help children make a wacky craft. At the end of the evening there will be a drawing for prizes donated by Past and Future Heroes, Video Paradise, and Custom Stitch. Come and enjoy the evening and start your summer reading - just for the fun of it!

If it rains on Wacky Wednesday, the library festival will be held at the library.

Mad Science

Bubbling potions, special effects, chemical magic and interactive fun are part of the performance by Mad Science of Greater Boston coming to the library on June 17 at 7 p.m. This program, geared to preschool children ages two and a half to five, will be a good introduction to science and how it affects the world around us. Please call the library at 658-2967 to reserve your free tickets which will be available beginning June 10. This program is funded by the Community Partnerships for Children grant.

Bookends

Bookends, the library's book discussion group, met Thursday, June 3 to discuss Bag of Bones by Stephen King. Five members gave the book a thumbs up and one gave it a thumbs down.

A new roster of books for discussion is available at the library. Bookends will discuss Song of Myself by Walt Whitman at the July meeting.

New Books on tape in the library

Fiction:

Business @ the Speed of Thought; Using a Digital System by Bill Gates

Valenti seeks religious mission

WILMINGTON - A member of the local spiritual community seeks aid towards a planned religious mission to Russia.

Christina Valenti, 19, of the Wilmington Baptist Fellowship, expects to leave for Saint Petersburg, Russia in July on a religious mission. The trip is run by the "Teen Mania" organization, who encourage teenagers to go on missions.

The purpose of the mission is to bring the gospel to youths staying at a Russian non-secular camp, the Pioneer Training Camp. This will be accomplished partly through the presentation of short dramatic presentations.

Valenti will prepare by going on a shorter one week mission to Kentucky from May 29 to June 6, and will go to Texas for training for the Russia trip on July 16.

The training consists of an introduction to the Russian language, rehearsing religious dramas presented during the missions, and meeting the other missionaries. She will be in Russia for two weeks beginning July 20.

Valenti has received donations from the Congregational Church's Missions Committee, from church collections, and through the townwide council of churches. However she still seeks donations.

People wanting more information on how to donate to Valenti's mission can call the Wilmington Baptist Fellowship and Pastor Daryn Marsh at 658-1588.

Tech students take in special effects at Museum of Science

BILLERICA - Special effects was the topic, and students from Shawheen Tech were fascinated by the live performance at the Museum of Science earlier this year, made possible by a grant from the Wilmington Arts Lottery.

Commercial Art and Design instructor Ethel Leary was one of two teachers who took sophomores and seniors from this program to the museum in Boston. They saw many illusions and experiments in color, and wondered, "Did I see what I thought I saw?" Leary said. "Their field is visual - understanding how you perceive and deceive is important in this field, especially in advertising design," she noted.

The trip was paid for in part by the Mass. Cultural Council, Wilmington Arts Lottery.

Exceeding their goals
Methodist Church building fund doing very well

WILMINGTON - With membership up almost 30 percent, attendance up over 90 percent and Sunday school participation up over 135 percent over the last four years, there is a great need to expand. A 7000 sq. ft. addition to the church, with an estimated cost of $696,000, is planned which will nearly double the size of the existing building.

An intensive Capital Campaign, just nearing completion, had a goal of $400,000 through gifts and three year pledges. The "progress billboard" in front of the church has been completely filled in!!

In fact the campaign goal was exceeded by more than 10 percent thanks to the tremendous support by the congregation and the dedication efforts of the campaign workers.

Bids will soon be secured to being construction by early summer. The expansion will include five multi-purpose rooms, new child care facilities, additional seating in the sanctuary, improved handicapped access and an elevator lift connecting all levels, a new gathering area, a new reception area, more rest rooms, and more office and storage space.

Les White, a campaign chairman, indicated that there will still be a need for a mortgage but less than expected. Three year pledges and gifts still being received will further reduce the cost of borrowing.

According to the Rev. Herb Taylor, "the present church built back in 1958, has served us well. But, just as there was a need then to expand, we have accepted the challenge to expand again upon the site of the old church that was raised in 1976. Just as our parents and grandparents provided for us, we are providing for our children, grandchildren, and generations to come. We are looking forward to celebrating the opening of the addition this Christmas (1999).

Claire Cronin awarded
"Temp of the Year"

WILMINGTON - Moore Employment, Inc. (a/k/a Moore Temps) annual Temporary of the Year has been awarded to Claire Cronin of Tewksbury for her outstanding work ethics and performance(s) on all 'temporary work assignment,' attendance and especially her exceptional likability of her coworkers, etc. during her five years representing Moore! Claire Cronin's work ethics, dependability, conscientiousness, quality and overall general clerical skills, and her willingness to work various assignments at various levels are the major reasons for receiving this award. They must say also that her positive attitude makes her an enjoyable employee! It is a pleasure to have her on the staff at Moore Temps and her current assignment supervisor and co-workers attest to all of the above. She is a perfect Moore Temp!

She chose Moore to return to the work force on the advice of her son and husband, both Davids, and former Moore Temps. After 26 years working at home, she realized she lacked the current skills needed in the work force. She knew that Moore Temps Agency could and would help her grow, and they did. "My skills and knowledge have increased 10 fold because of the variety of work assignments given me, some as long as 24 months," she said.

Claire received a beautiful sterling silver pendant, heart shaped pin engraved with Moore's logo, together with a sterling silver Fox-tail chain; the pendant can be worn as a pin or as a pendant; a desk trophy with appropriate engraving thereon; special flower arrangement and her name is visibly seen on the office plaque with others who share this annual honor. They had the pleasure of dining out at a wonderful restaurant of her choice, The Rosewood in Tewksbury. The food was excellent!

Moore Employment, Inc. (Moore Temps) is in its 19th year successfully staffing companies both large and small not only in Wilmington but all surrounding towns along Routes 128, 495 and 93. They provide staffing for both temporary and temp-to-hire, and direct hires with over 100 job descriptions. They've helped thousands get new jobs. Since 1984 the in-house software training continues with all current software used by their clients. For more information call 978-657-6000, fax 978-675-5906, or email: ham@mediaone.net. For your company's certified training on the '90's software, call Moore Staffing & Computer Training direct at 978-975-7528. Website: www.mooretemp.com. Call them, like so many others, you'll be glad you did!

Senator Tucker's bill would Extend limitations on suits for workplace discrimination

STATE HOUSE - Because hundreds of victims are missing the deadline each month, State Senator Sue Tucker is sponsoring a bill that would extend the statute of limitations for filing workplace discrimination and sexual harassment complaints against an employer from six months to 300 days, mirroring the federal statute of limitations.

The bill, known as Senate 802, was filed in response to three rulings from the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court in May 1996. In those cases, the individuals pursued claims against their employers for sexual harassment, but all three victims were denied legal remedy because they did not file their claims within the short six month statute of limitations at the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination (MCAD).

Additionally, Senate 802 would allow all victims of discrimination access to the stricter penalties provided for in the MCAD statute.

"By allowing more opportunity for victims of sexual harassment and discrimination to hold their perpetrators accountable, we will send a stronger message that this kind of behavior will not be tolerated in the workplace," Senator Tucker said.

Obituary

Alice M. Seymore
lived in Wilmington for many years

GROTON, CT - Alice M. (Doucette) Seymore of Groton CT., formerly of Wilmington, died June 9, 1999 at her residence. She was 92.

Born in Wilmington she was the daughter of the late Francis and the late Margaret (Frotton) Doucette. She lived in Wilmington for many years prior to moving to Groton, CT and prior to retirement was employed by the University of Connecticut in Groton.

Mrs. Seymore was survived by her daughter Doris Balestrieri of Woburn; her son Thomas Concannon of Groton, CT; seven grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

She was also the mother of the late Robert Walsh of Lynn.

Funeral services will be held from the W.S. Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home, 374 Main St. (RT 38) Wilmington Saturday morning at 8:45 followed by a funeral mass at St. Thomas Church and burial in the family lot, Wildwood Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Which of These Costly Homeseller
Mistakes Will You Make
When You Sell Your Home?

A new report has just been released which reveals 7 costly mistakes that most homeowners make when selling their home, and a 9 Step System that can help you sell your home fast and for the most amount of money.

This industry report shows clearly how the traditional ways of selling homes have become increasingly less and less effective in today's market. The fact of the matter is that fully three quarters of homesellers don't get what they want for their home and become disillusioned and worse - financially disadvantaged when they put their home on the market.

As this report uncovers, most homesellers make 7 deadly mistakes that cost them literally thousands of dollars. The good news is that each and every one of these mistakes is entirely preventable.

In answer to this issue, industry insiders have prepared a free special report entitled "The 9 Step System to Get Your Home Sold Fast and For Top Dollar"

To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your free copy of this report call 1-800-817-7745 and enter ID #7012. You can call anytime, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Call NOW to find out how you can get the most money for your home.

Donald Ethan Bagby served with the Navy in two wars

TEWKSBURY - Donald Ethan Bagby, 73, died Monday, June 7 at St. Joseph's Hospital in Nashua, N.H. He was the husband of Pauline (Carter) Bagby, with whom he celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary October 12.

Born in Augusta, Kansas June 19, 1925, he was the son of the late Ethan L. and Carrie E. (Neihardt) and was educated in Texas and Kansas schools.

In 1942, he began a career in the United States Navy which lasted 21 years. During his career, he was called to serve his country in World War II and the Korean Conflict. He was stationed aboard many war ships including the USS Shaw, the USS Cabot, the USS San Jacinto, the USS Mississippi and the USS Arcadia.

Mr. Bagby earned several decorations, including American Area Ribbon, the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon with four bronze stars, the Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal, the Philippine Liberation Medal with two bronze stars, the World War II Victory Medal, the Presidential Testimonial Award, the Presidential Unit Citation with one star, the National Defense Service Medal with two Good Conduct Medals, one with three bronze stars.

Following his Naval career, he moved to Tewksbury where he founded Don's Shoe Repair Service and operated it for 35 years. In addition, he worked in shoe repair at Tewksbury Hospital. He also worked as a bus driver for the former Blanchard Bus Company of Tewksbury and in later years enjoyed selling various items at the flea market in Hollis, N.H. He was a snowmobiling enthusiast and was a member of the former Tewksbury Kodiak Snowmobile Club.

In addition to his widow, Mr. Bagby is survived by his two sons and two daughters-in-law, Wayne R. Bagby and his wife Patricia (Burns) and Atty. Brian L. Bagby and his wife Lauren (Baker) all of Pepperell; six grandchildren, Ethan, Eric, Corey, Meghan, Caitlin and Evan Bagby; three sisters, Rose Mary of Washington, Christine and Mae both of Texas; his sister-in-law, Gene of Texas and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were scheduled for Thursday at 9 a.m. at the Farmer & Dee Funeral Home, 16 Lee St., Tewksbury, to be followed by burial in Tewksbury Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the charity of one's choice.

Outdoor graduation ceremony comes off without a hitch

sion with future success." Josh failed to spend time with his family, missed birthdays, and lost touch with friends. Upon retiring, Josh had no one to spend his time with, and wished to again be young.

Michaud concluded his speech by answering the question, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" He replied, "The same thing I am right now, which is happy."

Salutatorian Eric Brassil earned laughs from the crowd with his reference to the donning of "pizza boxes" as head wear and being "herded to the field like cattle."

"Why," asked Brassil, "It's tradition."

Brassil said that the Class of '99 does not fit into one generational stereotype, such as Generation X or the MTV generation, but Brassil said his classmates are "definitely kids of the 80's." He reminisced by remembering 80's fads such as Alf, Punky Brewster, New Kids on the Block, LA Gears, and Z. Cavaricci's.

Valedictorian Andrew Tohmc focused on the new independence the students will experience. He said, "It is time to thank and turn away from those who have supported us...For the first time in years we will feel alone."

Tohmc mentioned that although students will now be independent, they will be away from what they are used to at Wilmington High and will live an unfamiliar life. He concluded by saying, "Let us remind ourselves of all that high school has given us."

"You are the last class of this century," said Teacher of the Year Richard Scanlon. He continued by comparing the state of the world today to what it was 100 years ago. "Are things better today," he asked, "Well perhaps they are worse."

He said that although there have been incredible technological and medical advances in the last century, there have been devastating events as well. He spoke of the Korean War, Desert Storm, the nine year war in the Balkans, and the recent crisis in Kosovo.

Scanlon said, "With all of these things in mind, what has happened to our community?"

As expected, the tragedy at Columbine High School was remembered during the ceremony in a speech by Dr. Geraldine O'Donnell, Superintendent of Schools.

O'Donnell said, "For all of us this has been a year of tremendous trauma."

O'Donnell mentioned the struggle of the Class of '99 to change Woods' decision to have graduation indoors. The decision came when recent outbreaks of violence in schools across the country brought concerns of safety to Wilmington.

O'Donnell said the decision was

"appealed by one of the finest groups of students I have ever witnessed in a school committee meeting."

Security was increased this year at Alumni field for the ceremony. Wilmington Police Officers lined the back wooded area of the field, and officers were also present at the entrance to the event.

owner of Bruce Transportation. The Chelmsford facility also maintains buses used for Ayer, Shirley, and Boxboro school systems.

"Bruce Transportation has done a very good job here," said Robert Cruickshank, Business Manager for the Chelmsford Public Schools. "Both companies are excellent vendors, we would be happy with either one. It would be a win-win situation for both companies." Cruickshank noted.

"No comment" said Brad Jackson, Wilmington School Department Business Manager. "I cannot comment on matters that will be discussed in executive session" Jackson continued.

According to Cruickshank, the Chelmsford discussions were held in public sessions.

"The proposal has been given to our attorney for her review," stated Wilmington School Committee Chair Suzanne Rooney. Rooney does not expect any action to be taken on the proposal for a few weeks.

If the deal goes through, Trombly will offer employment to all current Bruce Transportation drivers.

Arrested on indecent exposure charges

South End of Woburn and ended near Mass. General Hospital on Friday.

Following the chase Laterza was charged with:

-Two counts of open, gross or lewd conduct, stemming from two separate incidents where he exposed himself to women in Woburn, on June 4 and May 19.

-Failure to stop for a police officer.

-Assault with a dangerous weapon (his car).

-Operating an unregistered, uninsured vehicle.

-Attaching license plates.

-Operating after his license had been revoked.

-Failure to operate in the right hand lane.

-Speeding; and

-Receiving stolen property.

Laterza also faces charges in Lexington from a similar incident in that town, and he reportedly confessed to a similar incident in Wilmington.

Police from several other communities - mostly on the North Shore - are also trying to determine if Laterza is responsible for indecent exposure incidents elsewhere.

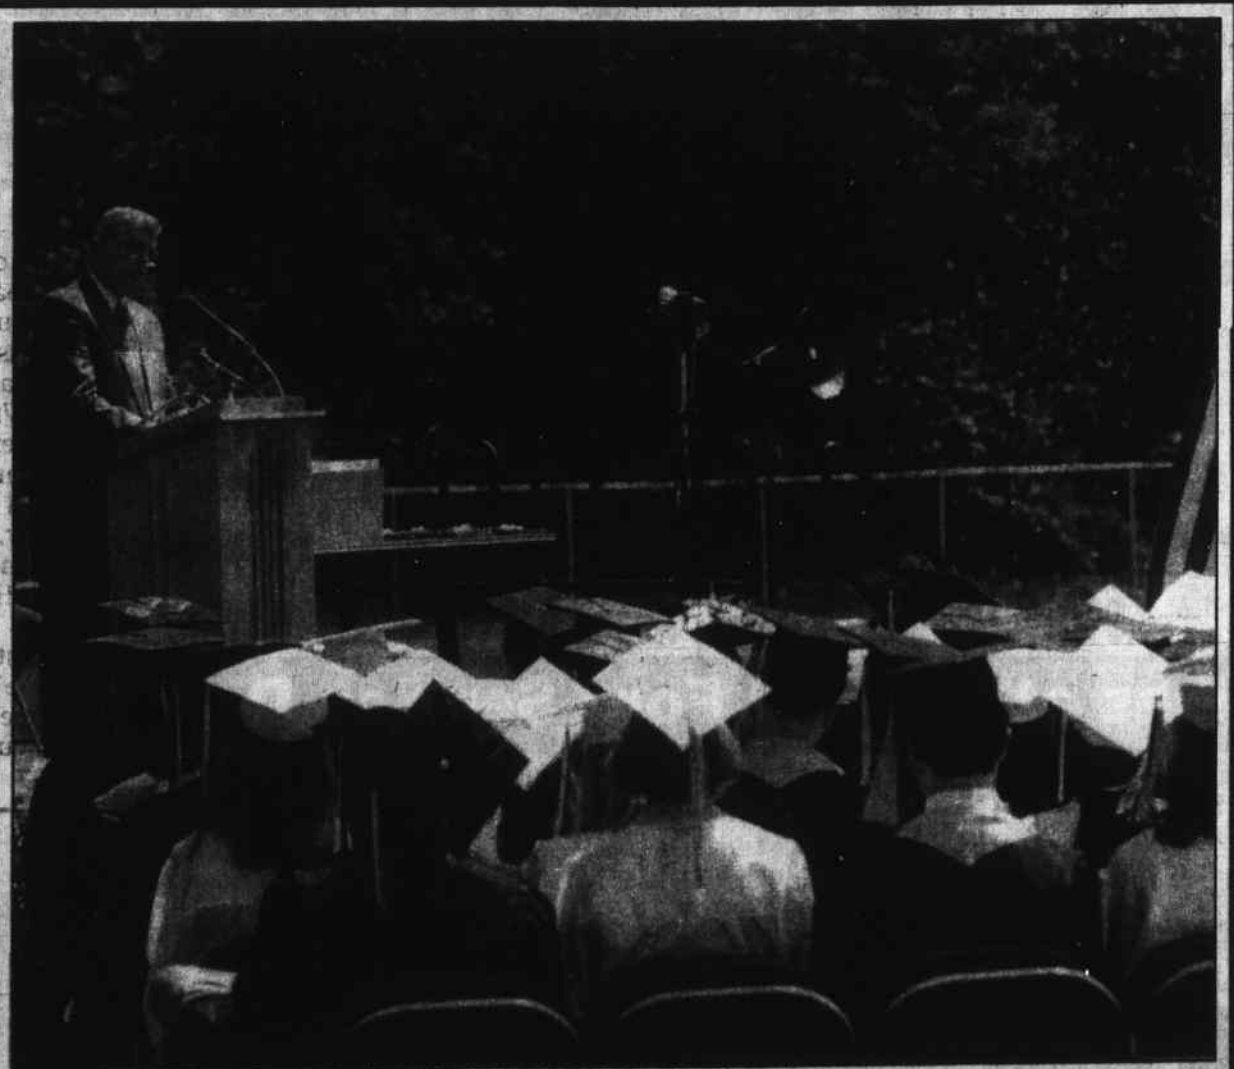

According to police, Laterza agreed to be interviewed by police after the chase. He reportedly listed two dozen communities, mostly on the North Shore, where he claims he exposed himself. He estimated he exposed himself to about 50 women in the past few weeks.

Third in national photo contest

Wilmington, Tewksbury post offices

Letter Carriers picket, want USPS to deliver acceptable contract

By PAUL HAYES
Mail carriers in Wilmington and Tewksbury staged informational pickets in front of their respective post offices, as part of a national effort to bring attention to their contract battle with the United States Postal Service (USPS).

The picket began after the letter carriers completed their daily mail delivery routes at about 3:30 p.m., although some letter carriers with the day off were able to begin picketing earlier in the day.

The picket stems from contract negotiations that began in November, 1998.

Since that time, contract negotiation between the National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC), the letter carriers union, and the USPS have broken down and entered arbitration. As a result, letter carriers continue to work off of their old contract.

Because the letter carriers are federal employees, who have pledged not to go on strike, they have resorted to the informational picket as a means of making public their dissatisfaction with the contract negotiations.

According to Wilmington Post Office shop steward Steve Russell, a letter carrier for 13 years, the USPS offered letter carriers a two year contract carrying just a two percent raise, after making $5 billion in revenue over the past four years.

"The Postal Service delivered a record volume of mail last year, mainly due to letter carriers hard work," said Tewksbury Post Office shop steward Joe Lefebvre, a letter carrier for 15 years.

Not only have letter carriers delivered more mail, but the automation of post offices has them spend more of their time outdoors, exposed to dangerous situations, Lefebvre said.

"The carriers now work longer, harder hours," Lefebvre said. "You work harder, you want to make more money."

Lefebvre said the increase in outdoor time for the letter carriers has increased their exposure to harsh weather, their chances for injury, and their likelihood of being bit by dogs.

In addition to the increased workload letter carriers have been saddled with, Russell and Lefebvre point out that management receives an unfairly large slice of USPS profits.

USPS supervisors and management personnel receive hefty holiday bonuses between $2,000 and $15,000, just before Christmas, both

Russell and Lefebvre said.

"Nothing against management, who got the bonuses through their union," said Lefebvre. "But we're the people out there delivering the mail."

Defeat ends bumpy campaign

By JEFF NAZZARO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High baseball team began the 1999 campaign dreadfully slowly then rebounded to reel off an impressive string of victories down the back stretch and reach the Division 3 State Tournament. Once there, they started strongly then agonizingly deteriorated in getting ousted by Ipswich, 9-7, at WHS last Thursday afternoon.

After pitching six brilliant innings three days prior to stop Westford and pull Wilmington into the tournament with their tenth win, junior hurler Mike Heffernan returned heroically to the hill and blanked the Tigers over the first three-and-a-third innings. When he tired in the fourth and allowed a one-out, two-run double to designated hitter Chris Lane, he left the game to a hearty round of applause led by his appreciative teammates. Wilmington led 5-2.

The game saw the pitching-depleted Wildcats lead 5-0 after three innings and then Ipswich strike back for three in the top of the fourth and pull within one with a single tally in the fifth then grab a two-run lead with three in the sixth. But the game Wilmington lineup rallied to tie the contest on senior Chet Ferriera's two-out double in the bottom of the sixth, only to watch the Tigers get two back in the top of the seventh that Wilmington couldn't answer.

"It's very disappointing," said WHS coach Dick Scanlon. "When you have a 5-0 lead you have to hold it. We couldn't seem to lock the game up. We just kept coming back but we couldn't turn the trick." This was not the same Ipswich team that Wilmington demolished 20-1 earlier in the year. With then-ineligible players back for the tourney, the Tigers fielded a potent lineup top-to-bottom and got an excellent stint in relief from left-hander Jim Bodwell, who came in from center field to pick up the win after Wilmington knocked starter Andy Workman around early.

Eric Banda and Scott Buck each had three hits on the day for Wilmington. Banda also drove in two and scored twice. Dave DeAmato went 2-for-3 with a walk, drove in one and scored three. For Ipswich, Workman went 2-for-3 with a walk also, scored three times and drove in the winning run in the top of the seventh with his second double of the game. Lane knocked in four runs on 3-for-4 hitting and nine-hitter Jeff Small was 3-for-3 with an RBI double and a run scored.

Heffernan set down the first six batters he faced, half by way of strikeout. He gave up a leadoff walk and a hit in the third but escaped harm. The 'Cats meanwhile got right to it with a single tally in the bottom of the first. Senior Dave DeAmato batters, walking both of them to set up a bases loaded situation for the number nine batter Susie Scott. Scott, a converted left-handed batter - slap hitter, spoiled several great pitches by Collings before delivering a two-strike slap contact back to Collings at the mound. Probably not having a chance to get the speedy Scott out at first, Collings rushed off the mound trying to get her only play, the quick toss to home for the force, but the throw was high and the go-ahead run scored.

Again with one out and one on, now the following inning, VonKahle reached first on an error, moving Venuti who singled - to third. On the same play, VonKahle came to second with ease hoping to get in a rundown to allow Venuti to score. Wolfe spun around quickly with a tag on Von Kahle, missing her and came up throwing to home to nail Venuti who was only a few steps off third. But Wolfe couldn't get the

Had Tewksbury's Nikki Venuti not have made a sensational diving catch while being totally outstretched on a smash to the left center gap by Wilmington's Melissa Wolfe to start the top of the sixth, perhaps the Lady Wildcats might still be playing ball right now.

But they aren't, because they couldn't get any breaks, and they couldn't score a run. Tewksbury, the team who beat them 2-0 in the first round of the Division 2 North state tournament last Thursday at Livingston Park in Tewksbury, tasted the same medicine two days later, losing to Swampscott 1-0.

As big as pitching is the name of the game, so is putting the bat on the ball.

"We have not scored more than two runs against a good team this season," said a flustered Paul Lyman, the Wilmington head coach. "It was the topic of conversation all this week, we worked very hard on hitting, on bunting ... and you can't expect to win when you have one hit in the game."

"Nikki made a great catch and Tewksbury did the things it needed to win, and we don't do those things, we don't dive and make those plays. We had two unearned runs cost us, and we gotta score runs and we don't know how to do it."

A week prior to the state tourney match-up, Wilmington lost to the same Tewksbury club, 8-1 in a non-league game. Both times it was a match-up of young arms as Tewksbury's Amy VonKahle was firing bullets as Wilmington again, this time limiting them to just three runners all game - a single, a walk, and one who reached on an error. On the other side of that was freshman Sara Collings for the Blue and White and once again she pitched much better than what it seems.

"Sara pitched a great game, she really did. And it's too bad we didn't score any runs for her," said Lyman.

With two outs and no one on in the top of the first inning, Wilmington freshman Jacqui Rubino singled to center only to be stranded there. Little did anyone know at that point, that her single would be the lone of the day, as VonKahle would send the next 8 batters back to the dug-out, before Rubino's next turn at bat when she reached on an error, only to be stranded again, this time at second.

Tewksbury, who has had the reputation for struggling with the 'O', scored single runs in the second and third innings, both unearned. With a runner on first two outs in the second, Collings struggled with her control for two batters, walking both of them to set up a bases loaded situation for the number nine batter Susie Scott. Scott, a converted left-handed batter - slap hitter, spoiled several great pitches by Collings before delivering a two-strike slap contact back to Collings at the mound. Probably not having a chance to get the speedy Scott out at first, Collings rushed off the mound trying to get her only play, the quick toss to home for the force, but the throw was high and the go-ahead run scored.

Again with one out and one on, now the following inning, VonKahle reached first on an error, moving Venuti who singled - to third. On the same play, VonKahle came to second with ease hoping to get in a rundown to allow Venuti to score. Wolfe spun around quickly with a tag on Von Kahle, missing her and came up throwing to home to nail Venuti who was only a few steps off third. But Wolfe couldn't get the ball out of her glove, and the run scored making it 2-0.

Kara Langone tried to get a rally going for the visitor's in the top of the fifth when she walked. After a strikeout, Katie Holloway bunted Langone to second and then she moved up 60 more feet on a wild pitch. But with two outs, Wilmington couldn't get that clutch hit as VonKahle struck out her fifth of seven batters on the day. She retired the last nine batters to face her including the gem of a play by Venuti, who has been called by many as one of the premier athletes ever to walk through the halls of TMHS.

As for Wilmington, they just weren't there yet this season, but in the future with the likes of Rubino, Collings, not to mention the would be seniors coming back next year like Lauren McCarthy, Maura Lynch and Katelyn Sugrue, it won't be long until the three year streak of first game tournament losses ends in Wildcat country.

Tickets still available Ruiz, Stone and professional boxing here on Saturday

This Saturday night, a once in a lifetime extravaganza is coming to Wilmington. Instead of staying home at watching professional boxing on Showtime or even Pay Per View, it's coming right here in our own living room. And there are still tickets available to see John Ruiz of Chelsea fight, as another win will get him an inch closer of fighting for the heavyweight championship of the world against either Evander Holyfield or Lennox Lewis.

Ruiz, along with his manager Norm Stone of Wilmington, will be defending his WBA North American heavyweight championship on June 12 against Fernely Feliz (16-1, 9 ko's), of the Dominican Republic, at the Shriners' Auditorium in Wilmington. The Ruiz-Feliz fight will be shown live on Showtime, as well as the first world boxing championship ever broadcast from Wilmington, WBA super middleweight champ Frank Liles against the No. 1 challenger, Byron Mitchell.

Ruiz (34-3 25 ko's) will be making his first Greater Boston appearance in more than two and a half years. He registered a fourth round TKO of Mario Cawley in his last bout, March 13 on the Evander Holyfield-Lennox Lewis undercard in New York City.

"A lot of my fans wanted a chance to see me fight live and I'm grateful to Don King for putting on his show in Massachusetts," Ruiz said. "It'll be good for me and everybody who's part of Ruiz' Corner."

"I like to keep active and can't focus right now on a world championship fight. I just have to keep fighting and wait to see how things turn out. My time will come and I will be the first Latino heavyweight champ of the world."

Ruiz' veteran manager, Norman "Stoney" Stone, who lives in Wilmington, explained that Don King Promotions wanted Johnny to fight again on Showtime and give his local fans an opportunity to attend the fight. "We want Johnny's grassroots fans to be able to afford tickets ($20 tickets available) and have it some place within driving distance for them."

"We worked hard to get it here at the Shriners' Auditorium. The Quietman is coming home to make some noise."

There will be 14 fights in all, and tickets are still available, priced at $25, $50, $75, $100 and $150. They are on sale through New England Ticketmaster by calling 617-931-2000, or can be purchased at the Shriners Auditorium box office on Friday (noon to 6 p.m.) or Saturday (noon to 11 p.m.). The fights are tentatively to begin at 6 p.m.

TMHS Athletic Awards filled with laughter and good-byes

FROM THE PRESS BOX

JAMIE POTE

On Monday night the annual Tewksbury Memorial High School student-athletic awards banquet was held at the Tewksbury Lodge of Elks. Besides the annual dinner and class act by speaker Bob Aylward, the school's athletic director, the night was a lot of fun behind the great words of several coaches including Steve Levine, Brian Aylward, Ron Drouin, and Larry Bastieri to name a few.

The night also had several touching moments including the farewell plaque given to Principal Bill McGuirk who'll be leaving to go back to his hometown of Westford Academy. The "Big Guy" did more than make a major difference in the halls and with the student body. He'll be missed by more than this writer. Good luck, Bill.

As usual Bob Aylward was tremendous as a speaker, spilling his true feelings onto every coach and student-athlete, only the way he can, which still truly amazes me (but this year he didn't bring tears as he always does).

Before I list the winners, I would like to say that of all the classes at TMHS, this senior class certainly has to be my ultimate favorite. There are so many awesome, awesome kids who I'll always cherish in my heart. Whether it's kids who I got a chance to know like Derek Favreau, Jim Sullivan, Nikki Venuti, Brian Milner, Larry Reed, Brad Columbus, Molly Boyle, Jen Ivas, Tyler Welch, Lindsay Maxwell and the list goes on and on with so many tremendous kids who I didn't get a chance to know as well, but will always remember. Thanks guys and girls for an awesome four years.

The winners are:
Baseball: Coach Ron Drouin didn't give out an M.V.P. award, rather he gave out two coaches awards to Jim Sullivan and Mark Morris, two of the many players who led the team with a small school championship and into the second round of the state tournament.

Boys Basketball: Again Sully was awarded for his efforts and personality as he got the coaches award and junior Roger Brasil, who averaged 25 points for the 2-18 team got the M.V.P.

Girls Basketball: Senior captain Kerry Ford ended her solid career with 98 three-pointers as she got the team's M.V.P. award, while, senior center Kristin Cronin walked away with the coaches award, one of many awards given to her on this night.

Fall/Winter Cheerleading: Both Nina McLellan and Eliza Rakip were awarded the coaches award in the fall, while, Jaime Frasca and Kristen Murphy were the winners in the winter.

Boys Cross Country: Larry Reed has had more publicity and has gotten more awards than hundreds of athletes I've seen over the years, but if anyone deserves it, it's this kid. He took home the M.V.P. as he was the Division 2 Runner of the Year, while teammate Dave Clark was awarded for his leadership abilities.

Girls Cross Country: Good friends Nicole Morandi and Danielle Bastien ended their careers with awards as the former was the M.V.P. and the latter earned the Coaches Award.

Field Hockey: Both Cronin and Lauren Bibb were co-M.V.P.'s and rightfully they should as both of them had tremendous seasons and careers for the very good and underrated coach Pat Ryser.

Football: Mark Morris and Mike Deshler both did more than their share of tackling on the gridiron and they were awarded the M.V.P. and Coaches Award, respectively for Brian Aylward's team.

Gymnastics: This program has come along way already, thanks to team M.V.P. Lauren Cook and Michelle Drevet who was awarded for his dedication.

Golf: Sophomore Chase Wells had one of the better seasons for a TMHS Golfer to remember and he still has two more years to go. Sophomore Brett Schettino, in the same boat, earned the Coaches Award.

Ice Hockey: It was a long and bumpy road at times, but when head coach Bob Ware needed a shoulder Derek Favreau (M.V.P.) was there, and so was Shaun Durkin.

Boys Soccer: Again with a struggling team, Favreau smoothed things out playing every position possible to help Steve Levine's young and inexperienced club. Brian Milner, who Levine said he asked several times during the season "Brian are you ever going to stop any of these shots?" was the triumph goalkeeper who did very well despite the team's record.

Girls Soccer: No stranger to the M.V.P. award on this one as Nikki Venuti got the plaque as she was called by head coach Bob Manzi "By far the best player ever to play for this program in its 9 years of existence." Kerry Ford, for her non-stop hustle and character, was named as the Coaches Award.

Softball: What more can be said about what Nikki Venuti brought to the table for this club? And the same goes with her double play partner Lauren Bibb, whose laugh alone gave her the Coaches Award (just kidding of course).

Boys Spring Track: Again Reed was the team's best performer but had Bob Pucko not taken charge as a leader, we wouldn't be talking about their Class C Championship they won.

Girls Spring Track: Juniors Andrea Toland and Laura Petros had monster seasons again showing off great ability in every event head coach Bob MacDougall put them in as they got the nods to share the M.V.P. award, while Boyle just for her way of life, got the Coaches Award.

Girls Tennis: It's never easy for a team who doesn't have any home courts, but it's easy for head coach George Kalarites whenever he has the likes of Lisa Marco and Joe Machado on his team (the lone boy, since the school doesn't offer boys tennis).

Volleyball: Catherine Sheridan and Michelle Harris really helped this program take a major, major step as they were awarded the co-M.V.P.'s, while, Shannon Baker grabbed the Coaches Award.

Boys Winter Track: Reed made it a perfect 3-for-3 in team M.V.P.'s, while, Jonathan Shiner was awarded for everything he did for the team.

Girls Winter Track: Racheal O'Brien had a monster winter season, and Jen Ivas just smiled her way to the Coaches Award (just kidding, but her leadership abilities were tremendous, always with a smile).

Wrestling: Tajel Patel epitomizes everything to do with this program and school, and Mike Deshler again poured his heart out to help with the determination and heart.

Sportsmanship Award: Awarded to the female athlete who best represents the qualities of fair play in all aspects of athletics - Jen Ivas.

Kevin Kelley Sportsmanship Award: Awarded to the male athlete who best represents the qualities of fair play in all aspects of athletics - Robert Pucko.

Deborah Lee McPhail Memorial Determination Award: Awarded to the female athlete whose achievements and efforts in athletics exhibit perseverance and hard work unmatched by her peers - Nicole Morandi.

Daniel Gillette Memorial Determination Award: Awarded to the female athlete whose achievements and efforts in athletics exhibit perseverance and hard work unmatched by his peers - Larry Reed.

TMHS Coaches Award: Awarded to the female athlete who represents the finest qualities of fair play, work ethic, perseverance and athletic excellence - Kristin Cronin.

Dennis McGadden Memorial Coaches Award: Awarded to the male athlete who represents the finest qualities of fair play, work ethic, perseverance and athletic excellence - Mark Morris.

Lawrence McGowan Memorial Scholar Athlete Award: Awarded to the male athlete who best combines athletic excellence with superior academic achievement - Scott Murphy.

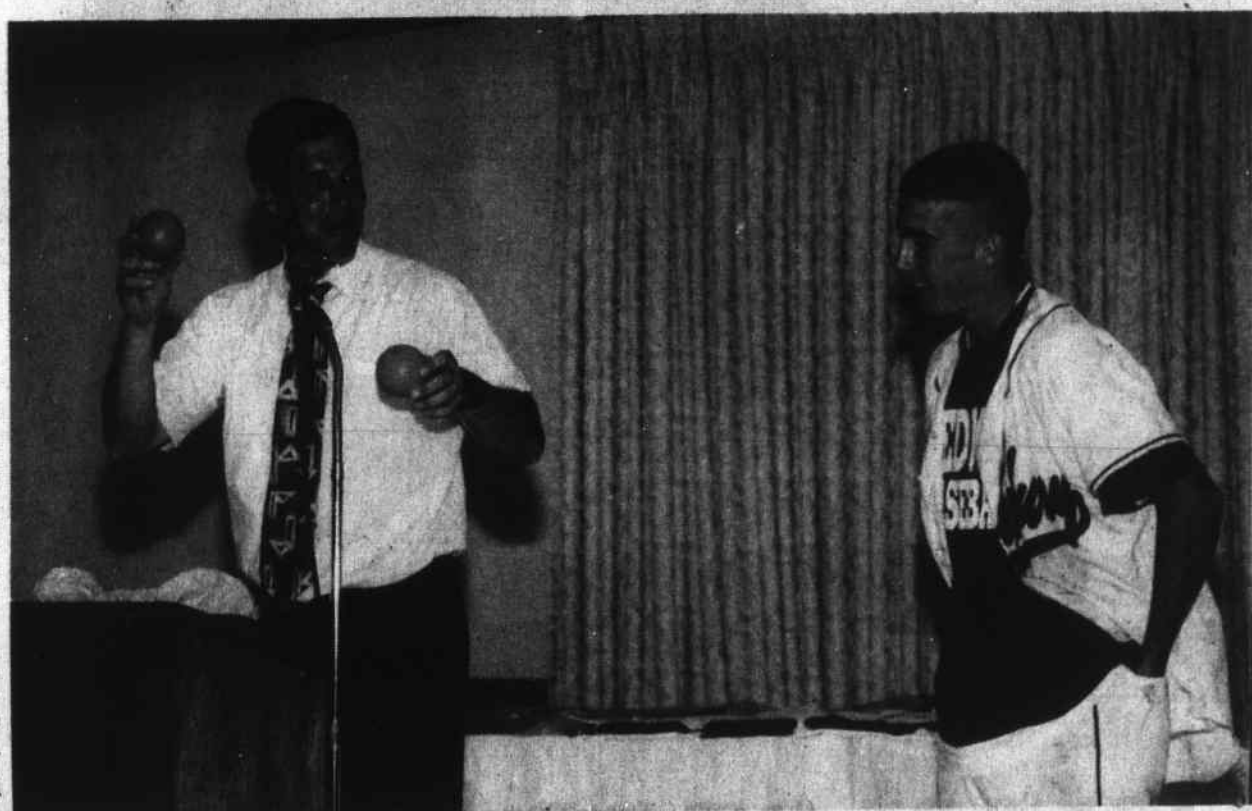

William J. DeGregorio Scholar Athlete Award: Awarded to the female athlete who best combines athletic excellence with superior academic achievement - Lisa Marco.

Outstanding Female Athlete: Awarded to the female athlete whose accomplishments during her high school career represents the finest qualities of athletic excellence - Nikki Venuti.

Outstanding Male Athlete: Awarded to the male athlete whose accomplishments during his high school career represents the finest qualities of athletic excellence - Derek Favreau.

Next time bring out the directions

By Ed Larkin
Outdoors Columnist

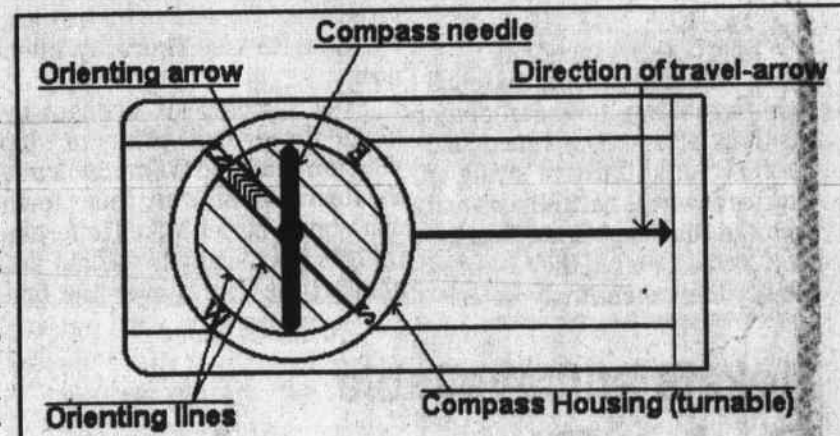

Long before technology blazed the trail, the main means of navigation was the compass and the map. The accuracy of the Global Positioning Systems (GPS) guarantees, if you are bushwhacking through the woods you will always know your location. That is, if the batteries don't run out or you don't drop the unit.

Don't get me wrong, I love technology, but technology should never be relied upon in lieu of understanding how to use a compass and map is essential before you step into the wilderness.

In a short time, anyone can learn how to use a compass and map. The fundamental understanding of navigation with a compass could save your life. After learning the basics, practicing is as easy as your backyard or local state park. Short hikes through wooded tracts of land using a compass and map, builds confidence quickly.

What are the basic skills? First, understanding the directions: North, South, East and West, North being the most important. Learning to use and set the compass dial for use with a map and understanding magnetic North while determining direction with the compass. To determine the direction, or bearing, from one point to another, you need a compass as well as a map. But you can still use a compass without a map as a means of reference for general direction. Most compasses are marked with the four cardinal points - north, east, south, and west - but some are marked additionally with the number of degrees in a circle (360: north is zero or 360; east is 90, south is 180, and west 270). Both kinds are easy to use with a little practice.

One thing to remember is that a compass does not really point north - not true north, except by coincidence in some areas. The compass needle is attracted by magnetic force, which varies in different parts of the world and is constantly changing. When you read north on a compass, you're really reading the direction of the magnetic north pole. A diagram in the map margin will show the difference between magnetic north and true north at the center of the map. This is called declination.

The best type of map to use with a compass is a topographic map. A topographic map tells you where things are and how to get to them, whether you're hiking, biking, hunting, fishing, or just interested in the world around you. These maps describe the shape of the land. They define and locate natural and man-made features like woodlands, waterways, important buildings, and bridges. They show the distance between any two places, and they also show the direction from one point to another.

In addition to showing natural and man-made features the topographic has a legend at the bottom of the map. The legend contains information on the map scale, declination, distance scale and a host of additional information to help you determine direction. The legend provides you with the information you need to determine direction on a map. The most difficult aspect of setting direction is understanding declination.

Unfortunately, sometimes, for some quite often, it is even more complicated. There is something called magnetic declination. You see, the compass is pointing toward the magnetic North Pole, and the map is pointing toward the geographic North Pole, and that is not the same place. On most orienteering maps (newer than the early 70's), this is corrected, so you won't have to worry about it. I have never used this type of map, but it sounds like it would make determining direction easier.

But on topographic maps, this is a problem. First, you'll have to know how large the declination is, in degrees. This depends on where on the earth you are. So you will have to find out before you leave home. In the map legend the declination is shown on the map. After you determine your direction on the topographic map, you convert grid into magnetic and add or subtract to get the correct degrees of direction. Make sense? It is once you have map and compass in hand and work through plotting direction.

By all means use the GPS tools. But make sure you plot a course on a map and carry your compass as a back up. I have used a GPS and still feel more confident in my ability to navigate with a map and a compass. In time, you get so good you check your compass for reference and read the map, positive of your location. This method is called terrain association. But remember basic skills are the backbone to all enjoyable and safe outings.

MORE FISHING READING

Keith Walters has written a book called Anglers Workbench. The book is the ultimate in adjustment, tinkering and repair of rods, reels and tackle. Full of pictures and ideas for fixing, designing or fine tuning tackle, it offers a way to make your fishing a little better. In some cases, tackle shops or bookstores anywhere. ## Wilmington native helped AP Hardy a major factor on and off the field

By David Flynn
Sports Correspondent

The sports world is filled with many athletes who well-don't care. That is why it is nice when there is a person who comes along and cares not only about himself, but about others around them.

Karen Hardy, a junior short stop for the Austin Prep softball team from Wilmington, is one example of a special athlete.

"She is a leader who gets along with everybody," said Cougars head coach David Gramling. "It is easy to talk about our girls, but, her especially."

Hardy played a major role in Austin Prep's success this season. She helped lead her team with timely hitting and stellar defense. Offensively, Hardy was a major factor not only for her team, but, in the Catholic Suburban league. Hardy hit .507, fifth best in the league, with 3 HR's, and 23 RBI's. Defensively, she had only one error in 58 chances.

"She makes pitchers frustrated," said Gramling, remembering on of Hardy's at bats when she fouled away 9 pitches as the bench counted out loud. "She is amazing to watch."

The Cougars finished the season with a 14-5 overall record, good enough for second place in the league. Due to the Cougars success, they earned a bid to the State Tournament. However, they were quickly eliminated in the first round to Nazareth.

"We have a lot of talent on our team," said Hardy. "It was a good year."

Hardy not only made an impact on the diamond, she made an impact on entire school as well. Next year, Hardy will return as the President of the school. Hardy obviously earned the respect of her peers because in order to become President, she had to be voted in by the students in the 6-12 classes.

"I am really involved in school activities," said Hardy. "It is important to me."

"I feel like I am a responsible person and I am someone who people can look up to."

When not playing a sport or not involved in an activity, Hardy becomes bored and yearns for a challenge.

"I love organizing things and being responsible for big jobs," said Hardy. "There is a lot of pressure, but, I don't know what I would do if I wasn't so busy."

Hardy's knack for keeping busy and pushing herself to the limits in all that she does, is one reason she will lead her team onto the field next season as the captain. It also probably explains why she will make a good President.

"She is a very impressive girl," said Gramling. "The key to Karen Hardy is she is very committed. She has lots of (talents), but, she gives it all back."

In both the sports world and in everyday life.

Winn advances to New England

by MARCELLA SWEET
Sports Correspondent

It wasn't really thoughts of winning that motivated the 14 athletes who made the trip to Smith College in Northampton for Saturday's All State Track & Field Championships. The simple fact that they had qualified to compete with the best in the state was cause for excitement - not to mention raw nerves, pacing, and lots of pre-race jitters. As the day wore on and Wilmington's athletes (and fans) cheered for their team, two things became clear - Wildcat Spirit is second to none, and Laura Winn would be the only runner to continue her season. As for the rest of the team? It was a fantastic end to the high school track and field careers of seniors Jason Crescenzo, T.J. Flynn, Matt Kacamburas, Ken Stokes, and Dan Sweet. But watch out for the rest of the crew - freshmen Stefany Quinton and Kristin Sauve, sophomores Kim Gillespie, Rebecca Rufo, and Chris Calway, and juniors Kristen Kacamburas, Jay Gillis, and Jim Rourke. They'll be back next year.

2-Mile

Matt Kacamburas ran a 10:10.83 to improve his seeding by four places and finish 19th overall.

300 m Hurdles

Running the fastest time of her career, Laura Winn hoped to see a number less than forty-six. Not quite, but her official time of 46.07 was good for sixth place and a trip to the New England Championships at Brown University this weekend.

400 m Dash

Running in a heat with only two competitors, Kim Gillespie was slightly off her usual pace and finished with a time of 62.12, good for 14th place overall.

3200 m Relay

Jay Gillis, Jim Rourke, Matt Kacamburas, and Jason Crescenzo almost duplicated their time of the Class D Meet (8:34.2). This time, 8:34.29 landed them a 21st place finish.

1600 m Relay

Seeded sixth in the meet, Laura Winn, Kristen Kacamburas, Rebecca Rufo, and Kim Gillespie were hoping to improve on their best time of 4:07. What they came up with was their second best time, 4:08.09, and a 10th place finish.

Dan Sweet, Chris Calway, Ken Stokes, and T.J. Flynn surprised a few teams as they improved their 21st place seeding to a 14th place finish with a time of 3:35.46.

Pole Vault

The stakes were raised for both Stefany Quinton and T.J. Flynn in the Pole Vault. A starting height of 8 ft. for the girls and 11 ft. for the boys was equal to both athletes' best jumps and proved to be too much of a challenge.

Baseball campaign ends

earned a two-out walk, took second on a wild pitch and scored on junior Eric Banda's single. Wilmington left two on in the second but then erupted for four in the bottom of the third.

Senior Jim O'Donnell started the rally by slamming a double to center, scoring easily on DeAmato's single. Banda followed by cracking a double to score DeAmato, then took third on Ferriera's single. After Sean Quigley struck out, Buck singled in Banda; he was thrown out at third on Peter Bamberg's RBI single, which plated Ferriera. Peter Grasso fled to center to end the inning.

Heffernan got his leader to open the fourth but then walked Workman and yielded a tremendous double to Dylan During high off the fence in left-center, with Workman holding third. Lane then singled in Eaton and Workman, taking second when the ball got by Ferriera in center. An obviously fatigued Heffernan had given everything he had and pitched well, but was done for the day.

Quigley relieved and his first pitch was wild and Lane advanced to third. The play was significant because the next batter, Tom Radzim, flew deep enough to center to allow Lane to tag and score, making it a two-run game. Quigley struck out Adam Costopolous to end the inning.

The 'Cats went quietly in their half of the fourth then saw Ipswich put to within one in the top of the fifth. Small started the frame with a single, took second on Bodwell's bunt, moved to third on another costly wild pitch and scored on Joe Grimes' sac fly to center field.

In the bottom of the fifth, Wilmington had what appeared to be an answering run, but the home plate umpire ruled on appeal that Ferriera left the bag early in tagging and scoring from third on Bamberg's fly ball to center. Ferriera had reached on an error by the shortstop and Wilmington proceeded to load the bases on singles by Quigley and Buck. But instead of one run in and one out with two on, the 'Cats had none in, two outs and runners on first and second. Pat Heffernan popped to the pitcher to end the threat.

Ipswich then seized control of the game in the sixth, plating three runs to grab a 7-5 lead, their first all day. Workman walked to start it and moved to second on During's single. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch and Workman scored to tie the game on Lane's single, with During taking third. Radzim brought home During with a sac fly to center that also advanced Lane to second and then Quigley hit Costopolous. Small proceeded to double in Lane with a shot to right but Costopolous was erased at the plate, Banda to Grasso to Buck.

Down two, Wilmington dug in at the plate with the top of their order. Grasso and O'Donnell both popped out but DeAmato got it cranked up with a two-out single followed by another from Banda before Ferriera tied the game with his smash to right-center. Quigley hit the ball hard but right at the left fielder to end the inning.

Josh Howlett took over for Quigley to start the seventh but right away got into trouble, walking Grimes to start the inning. Eaton then laid down a bunt and was thrown out at first by Buck. In what became another costly mistake for Wilmington, after Grimes took too wide a turn at second and got hung up, the 'Cats failed to throw him out. He scored the winning run when the next batter, Workman, doubled. After Howlett retired During on a groundout, Lane singled in Workman to make it 9-7. Howlett struck out Radzim to give the Wildcat bats one last shot.

As in the sixth, Wilmington's first two outs came very quickly, with Buck and Bamberg both grounding out. But after falling behind 1-and-2 and then taking two close ones, Pat Heffernan watched ball four sail high and Wilmington had a presence on the basepaths. When Grasso singled sharply through the hole, they brought the winning run to the plate in the person of O'Donnell.

The senior second baseman hit a sharp grounder to third that Workman got a glove on and tipped. As luck (good for Ipswich, not good for Wilmington) would have it, the ball skipped fortuitously into the glove of the shortstop Costopolous, who threw out O'Donnell at first to end the tournament for Wilmington.

DiGiovanni, Carrozza, and Gennetti honored

The 38th annual Order Sons of Italy in America Grand Lodge of Massachusetts Sports Banquet was held at the Italian Culture Center, Leominster April 25.

The event was held to acknowledge the scholastic and athletic achievements of this year's 44 chosen high school seniors and Coach of the Year.

Chairman of the event was the grand lodge Sports Commission Chairman Dick Cirrone. Athletes were chosen from submitted applications including written recommendations from their school coaches. Arthur Taddeo, soccer coach, Natick High School, received the award for Coach of the Year, while Wilmington High athletes Mark DiGiovanni (soccer), Sue Carrozza (field hockey) and Mike Gennetti (football) also received awards for their efforts.

WHEN TIME IS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR

Your Realtor has just brought you an offer on your home, and you want to think about it. You would like your agent to contact the other people who have shown an interest in your home. Whether your home has been listed for two days or two years, there is always a desire to hold out for more money, and sometimes sellers feel a lot of resistance to making a decision.

Some buyers will include a deadline for getting a response in their offer, but even if there isn't a deadline, you should respond to a buyer's offer quickly. The period between the time an offer is submitted and a response is made is a crucial one because the buyers are free to withdraw from the transaction. Even though they are mentally landscaping your yard and arranging their things in your rooms, they may also be afraid that they will get the house and, therefore, are extremely vulnerable to buyer's remorse.

Arsenault reals back and delivers another no-no

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

With a run in hand, and not pitching in a few weeks, you could tell just after that first one that it was going to be a special afternoon. Leading 1-0 going to the bottom of the first against host Savio Prep in the first round state tournament game (they won their preliminary round game), Shawsheen pitcher Flo Arsenault released a fastball for a called strike and a loud noise was heard from the visiting crowd. That loud noise was heard over and over and over and over again. Arsenault went on to strike out that first batter, Tana Kulas, and so did she strike out Julie Cassano and Jen Pardi to retire the side in the first inning. Then she struck out the side in the second inning, and two more inbetween a fly out to herself in the third. She did hit a batter to start the fourth, then walk the next before striking out the next two batters, making it 10-out-of-11 possible outs. With two on and two out, the next batter Carlene Baker sent a solid grounder that went off first baseman Krystina Mearls' shoulder, into rightfield where Kelley Doherty scooped it up and threw out Baker at first with Mearls back covering.

That was the closest Savio came to breaking up the no-hitter.

Oh yes, Flo went onto pitch her second no-hitter of the season, and this is her first year ever of throwing a softball underhand.

"I felt awesome," were her words of getting some rustiness out after not pitching for several weeks. "I was just thinking of winning the entire way, I didn't think (about the no-hitter)."

With a 6-0 lead going to the last of the fifth, Arsenault would go on to retire all but one of the remaining ten batters with one reaching on an error in the seventh. She struck out two more in the fifth inbetween a fly out to center and two more in the sixth inbetween a ground out to second.

With three outs to go in the last of the seventh, she got Pardi the lead-off hitter of the inning to groundout to short, before the error, but catcher Melissa Hall quickly gunned out Carla Carillo attempting to swipe second. The last batter came to the plate in Baker, and she was rung up on an outside fastball. That was strikeout number 15 on the day, another no-hitter, another shutout and the team's second post season win, more than they had done in at least the previous three seasons.

"You can't ask for more than what Flo did. She was awesome," said head coach Ed Henry.

And this is for a kid who has only pitched about the same number of games as her age, about 17.

Hall leads way with bats in second win

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

After climbing that initial hill on the emotional ride with a 3-2 upset victory over Lynnfield in the first round of the Division 3 state tournament, the second hill was quickly conquered as well just two days later in East Boston.

The Shawsheen Tech girls softball team got out of the school early as the game was scheduled for noon time so the senior girls could have enough time to get ready for their Senior Prom. And assuming that had a swell time that night, the terrific day started with a 6-0 shut-out win, while pitcher Flo Arsenault (see more on that on this page) made history with her second no-hitter on the season.

Shawsheen took it right to Savio in the first inning when Kristine Greene singled and stole second to set a tone in this one. After two outs were made and Greene moving up 60 feet to third, Katie Booth drove her in with a solid baseknock to make it 1-0.

Meanwhile Arsenault struck out the first seven batters to face her before the perfect game was ruined when she hit a batter in the top of the fourth. But she was surely throwing bullets in this one, setting the Savio batters off balance the entire way with a 60 mile per hour fastball and a devastating change-up.

After Melissa Hall singled and stole second to lead-off the second, she was stranded there, while Kelley Gillis did likewise in the third for the Rams.

Still 1-0, now in the top of the fourth, Arsenault reached on a two-base throwing error and she was lifted for a pinchrunner, Kathleen Guiney. Guiney scored when Hall stroked her second of three hits (3-for-3) on the day, this one a double in the gap, making it 2-0. Hall moved to third on a wild pitch and then scored home when she slid under the tag on a throw to the plate on Kelley Doherty's grounder.

Ahead 3-0, Shawsheen decided to pad its lead in the fifth with three more. Greene again got things going with a single, before she swiped second. She advanced to third on a groundout by Erica Belanger, and then Kelly Gillis scored her on a sacrifice fly.

"That was huge," said Henry. "That was a big run, Kelley's been playing phenomenal for us."

The inning continued when Booth reached first on an error, stole second and then scored on Arsenault's rope to left field, who took second on the throw home. Hall then ended the scoring for Shawsheen with another solid hit, this one to center to drive in her battery mate.

Arsenault went on to retire all but one of the final 10 batters, with the one reaching on an infield error. She struck out 15 on the day, while walking just one and hitting one.

"We knew we had to patient and disciplined at the plate (because of the lack of speed by the Savio pitcher), and the girls were," said Henry. "We swung the bats really well today, it was a good win."

Bay State Tryouts

Softball team ends season with 2-0 loss

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It was a strange season from the start, but in the end the Shawsheen girls softball team peaked to a much higher level.

From the ups-and-downs of the season, under its first year head coach Ed Henry, the girls blossomed into a team who'll be talked about for a while in this state.

"I think you're going to see Shawsheen softball on the rise," remarked Henry after the 2-0 quarterfinal loss to Our Lady of Nazareth Academy of Wakefield in the Division 3 North state tournament on Sunday afternoon. "I'm very, very proud of this team, as proud as many of the other teams I've coached (including the eight state champion teams at Bishop Fenwick, a decision one school).

"We're losing six seniors and all of them really helped mold the younger kids. And those younger kids have had a taste of (the success)."

After upsetting Lynnfield in the first round of the tournament with nearly an entire freshman team out on the field, Shawsheen won its second game, a 6-0 win over Savio Prep that saw junior pitcher Flo Arsenault toss her second no-hitter of the season. Then came Nazareth Academy, who had just annihilated Austin Prep by several touchdowns in its first tourney game.

But it was Shawsheen who showed that not only could they play with the Big Girls, but that they belonged at that level of play. Lead-off batter Kristine Greene started the game off with a beautiful 2-strike slap hit past the pitcher for the Lady Rams. After being sacrificed to second and moved to third on a groundout, she was stranded as Nazareth's pitcher Rachel Barry struck out her first of 13 batters on the day. Barry was extremely good in this game, showing off near perfect location and using the outside strike to her advantage as she continually worked the Shawsheen batters outside of the plate.

In the bottom of the first, Arsenault struck out the lead-off batter, before walking the next. She came back to 'K Becky Cullen for what was her second of 10 on the day, before getting out of the jam when clean-up hitter Debbie Bain grounded out to first baseman Krystina Mearls.

The score stayed scoreless going to the last of the fourth as Shawsheen left pinch runner Alison Ciccariello at second base after a Kelley Doherty double in the second inning, and then 16-of-the-next (and last)-18 batters were retired by Barry.

"We're going to fire our offensive co-ordinator, but since that's me, we'll have to hire a new one," joked Henry.

But it was the bottom of the fourth when Nazareth struck for two unearned runs. Lead-off batter Cullen scorched a grounder that went under the glove of second baseman Erika Persson to start the inning off. Bain then came up and swatted a triple to the right center gap to score Cullen for what was the game winning run. After a strikeout, the next batter Lindsay Belmonte grounded out to Arsenault, who then had Bain in a run down from third to home. But two botched throws later, and Bain scored an insurance run, making it 2-0.

Melissa Hall started the fifth inning off with a great at-bat, getting a walk, but nothing came out of it as Barry struck out the side for her second straight inning. Barry got the first two to strikeout in the sixth before Kelly Gillis grounded out. Now in the top of the seventh, still trailing 2-0, Shawsheen needed a rally, well actually they needed a few base runners to start one. With two outs and no one on, Hall tried to start another one, singling over the first base bag into foul ground for a single. But a groundball back to Barry at the mound on the following batter, negated any thoughts of a seventh inning comeback.

"We blinked once and they took advantage of it," said Henry. "We didn't beat ourselves, they beat us. They're a good club. You're never happy with a loss, especially on your final day because that means you didn't win it all, but in games like this it's whoever steps up and makes a big play or gets a big hit becomes the difference.

"And that's what happened, they got the big hit and we never got ours."

The one big hit impressively ended Arsenault's streak of 10 plus scoreless innings in the playoffs, while it was the prior inning that ended her 9 plus innings of not allowing a hit in the tourney.

"Flo pitched very well, we just couldn't put any offense going."

Freshmen duo prevail in opener

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Maybe it was a Wilmington thing. Or maybe it was a freshman thing.

Or maybe it was just two players rising to the occasion.

Or maybe it was just two players, Christy Johnson and Kelly Gillis who love to play, love to smile and love to deliver a win for the Shawsheen Softball team, which they did in what became one of if not the biggest high school softball state tournament upset when the Rams beat Lynnfield, 3-2 last Wednesday afternoon.

Johnson, who had the chore of starting on the mound with a freshman team behind her, just a few innings of getting back to the pitching mound recovering from a knee injury. Head coach Ed Henry said prior to that game that Johnson had to be near perfect with her location, change speeds and not walk anyone. She did all three to earn her first and very impressive varsity victory which came at the biggest time for the team.

"I just didn't want to walk anyone," said Johnson of striking out the final batter with two on and two out in the seventh inning. "I was so happy (when we won), it felt really good to win.

"I was happy I helped out, but I was glad when the score was 3-2. I understand that they are older, I just wanted to be part of a winning team."

Ahead 1-0 after the first four innings, Kelly Gillis delivered her biggest hit, a two-run single to give Shawsheen a huge 3-0 lead at that time. Lynnfield added two runs in the sixth, but Gillis' hit stood as the game winner.

"I think it was a fastball," said the very bubbly Gillis of trying to recall what pitch was thrown to her. "And I just hit it.

"We were all pretty psyched to win."

The next game Gillis delivered a big sacrifice fly in the team's 6-0 win over Savio Prep and after the game Henry commented, "Kelly has been phenomenal for us, that was a big run for us, a huge run."

amendments.

Contract Documents may be obtained at the Tewksbury Building Commissioner's Office upon deposit of a certified or cashier's check for $50.00 per set payable to the Town of Tewksbury. This deposit will be refunded for up to two (2) sets for general bidders and for one (1) set for sub-bidders upon return of the sets in good condition within 30 days of receipt of general bids. Otherwise, the deposit shall be the property of the Town of Tewksbury. Additional sets may be purchased for $50.00/set.

Bidders requesting Contract Documents to be mailed to them shall include a separate check for $50.00 per set, payable to The Town of Tewksbury to cover mailing and handling costs. This is a non-refundable deposit.

The Awarding Authority will reject general bids and filed sub-bids when required to do so by the above-referenced General Laws. In addition, the Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities in bidding and to reject any and all bids if it deems it to be in the public interest to do so. Also, the Awarding Authority reserves the right to reject any sub-bid if it determines that such sub-bid does not represent the bid of a person competent to perform the work as specified or if less than three sub-bids are received for a sub-trade or if bid prices are not acceptable without further competition.

The successful general bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and a Labor and Materials Payment Bond, each in the amount of 100% of the Contract Amount.

Wages and contributions to be paid to employees on the project shall not be less than those determined by the Commissioner of the Department of Labor and Industries, of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in accordance with Chapter 149, Sections 26 to 27D inclusive, of the above-referenced General Laws.

The job site and existing buildings will be available for inspection between 11:00 A.M. and 12 noon on Monday, June 28, 1999.

After the site inspection, there will be a Pre-Bid conference held at 12:15 P.M. on Monday, June 28, 1999, at the Site located at 11 Town Hall Avenue, Tewksbury, Massachusetts 01876. It is strongly recommended that prospective bidders attend. Any questions should be submitted at that time.

BOARD OF SELECTMEN NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be conducted by the Board of Selectmen, Selectmen's Meeting Room, Tewksbury Town Hall, 1009 Main Street, Tewksbury, MA 01876 on Tuesday, June 22, 1999, at 7:45 p.m. on the application of Sprint Spectrum L.P. d/b/a Sprint PCS by Jennifer A. McCook, Consultant, for a special permit under Section 7.10 of the Tewksbury Zoning Bylaws for the purposes of installing a 125' tall wireless communications monopole structure (with panel antennas attached at the top) and associated equipment at the Department of Public Works facility. Equipment cabinets will be located in a shelter which measures 11' (w) x 21' (l) x 15' (h) and will be constructed with an exterior facade that matches the Town's sewer pumping station on East Street. The monopole and equipment shelter will be located within a fenced area measuring 40' x 40'. The site will be surrounded by a 6' chain link fence with a rotatable anti-climbing device along the top of the fence for security. The site will also be screened by landscaping. The monopole will be engineered to accommodate an additional carrier and there is adequate space within the fenced area for another carrier's equipment shelter.

The proposed site will be located adjacent to an existing fenced compound and garage or shed on the DPW facility. The proposed facility will not be visible to adjacent properties. Said premises located on 999 Whipple Road (Assessor's Map 30 Lot 26) consisting of approximately 11 acres and located in municipal zoning district.

Input is welcome from the public and should be submitted, in writing, to the Office of the Board of Selectmen, Town Hall, 1009 Main Street, Tewksbury, MA on or before noon on Friday, June 18, 1999.

Smith and Crosby awarded game balls

On May 8, the Lady Wildcats traveled to Wakefield to face one of their toughest opponents. Wilmington came away with a 2-1 win, bringing the overall record to 5-1-1. Goal scorers for Wilmington were Debbie Lyons and Caitlin Foley. Caitlin blasted the ball past the Wakefield keeper on one of the several penalty kick opportunities Wilmington had.

Wakefield scored its lone goal on a penalty kick. Game MVP balls were awarded to Krystina Smith and Kelley Crosby.

Game Eight was played May 15 when Wilmington hosted Concord-Carlisle. The Lady Wildcats posted a 2-0 win to bring their record to 6-1-1. The game was another defensive gem, allowing the opposition few shots on net.

Wilmington goals were scored by Caitlin McNabb, who played an inspired game and Jackie Rideout, besting the Concord-Carlisle defense with her speed.

The game MVP balls were given to the Leverone family as this was sweeper Julia Leverone's last home game in Wilmington blue.

May 22 saw the team travel to Billerica for a game that impacted the division lead. Billerica came away with the win, besting Wilmington 1-0. The Lady Wildcats tried hard but could not put one past the Billerica keeper.

As always, the defense kept Wilmington in the game. The game MVP awards were given to Samantha Brooks and Alicia Braid. This game brought the team's record to 6-2-1.

On June 5, the Lady Wildcats traveled to Waltham to face the always tough Waltham team. Post season play for Wilmington hinged on a win for the Wildcats and a loss/tie for Billerica.

The Lady Wildcats came to play and posted a decisive 5-3 win, bringing their overall record to a very respectable 7-2-1. Wilmington scored early and maintained the lead throughout the game.

Goals were scored by Theresa DeSimone, Debbie Lyons, Jackie Rideout (scored twice) and Amy McHale. The entire team played inspired, with good passing, hustle, and again, great defense.

Game MVP balls were awarded to Amy McHale and Debbie Lyons.

Congratulations to the entire team for exciting soccer, played with skill, enthusiasm and sportsmanship. What is best is that the season is not over!

Hot Shot winners

Throughout the 1998-99 school year approximately 950 Wilmington students participated in the tobacco-free Hot Shots competition during gym class. Forty-eight students in grades four, five and six advanced to the town finals in April. The top three boys and girls in each grade then advanced to the semifinals competition held Friday, May 7 at Lexington High School. This competition would single out the top 18 students to represent this region in the State Final competition. At the end of the evening, Wilmington had captured seven of the 18 available spots.

Zachary Church from the Shawsheen Elementary School won first place in the fourth grade boys competition. Timothy Kent of the Woburn Street School prevailed through three tie breakers to secure third place among fourth grade boys. Leah Del Rossi also representing the Shawsheen edged out two other competitors to secure the third place spot in the fourth grade girls division.

Thomas Miele of the Woburn Street School was tied for first in the fifth place boys competition at the end of the first round of shooting. In the tie breaker, Thomas scored three points less than his competitor from Bedford to secure the second place spot.

Lani Cabral-Pini of the West Intermediate School kept first place in the sixth grade girls event after winning a tie breaker with a student from Lexington. Daniel Reed and Eric Ollila from the North Intermediate School took first and second place respectively in the sixth grade boys competition. Dan's score of 48 was the high score of the evening. Tom Miele, Lani Cabral-Pini and Dan Reed are all repeat winners for Wilmington. Each competed last year in the state finals at Boston College.

These seven students will compete on Saturday, June 12 at Boston University. There will be 126 students competing for one of 18 winning spots and the right to proclaim themselves a Massachusetts Hot Shot. We wish them the best of luck.

Summer Hoop

The Recreation Department continues its long tradition of providing recreational and instructional basketball programs this summer for Wilmington boys and girls.

The one week clinic, now in its 11th year, provides instruction and scrimmage play for ages six through 12. Dates are Monday through Friday, July 26 through 30. Session choices are 9 to 10:30 a.m. or 10:30 a.m. to noon at the Woburn Street and North Intermediate schools. The cost is $18 per participant.

The popular coed twilight league is geared for students entering grades five through 11. Games are played under the lights at the North and Shawsheen courts. The program runs for six weeks beginning July 6. Two games are played per week. Cost is $25 per player. Signup is going on in the Recreation Office at Town Hall weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. or by phone at 658-4270.

Under 10A Boys soccer

The Wilmington Boys Under 10A youth soccer team beat Westford to wrap-up a perfect season with 10 wins and no losses and an invitation to the Commissioner's Cup. Shane Foley opened up the scoring for Wilmington with a spectacular goal off a direct kick as he has done several times this season.

Some key offensive moves were made by Rich Barry who, as usual, used his powerful speed to strip the ball several times from the Westford scoring threat. Josh Mayo was also key on offense setting up and receiving several picture perfect passing plays which nearly connected. Timmy Kent made the second Wilmington goal of the game shortly before the half time whistle blew on a nice unassisted play.

As the second half opened up, Westford continued to play a fast paced and aggressive game. Greg Stewart, Zach Church and Brian Johnson combined their defensive skills throughout the half to keep the ball out of scoring territory. Westford never gave up and Wilmington's defense answered the call.

Wilmington's third goal of the game came off a beautiful crossing pass from Dana Steenbruggen to Shane Foley for the goal.

The final score at the whistle was 3-0. The shut out was, as it has been throughout the season, the result of spectacular goaltending by Brendan Sheehan. Sheehan, an extraordinary goalkeeper, has gone unscathed upon nearly every half he has played the net this season.

With regular season play now finished, the team will gear up for the Commissioner's Cup which will be held on June 19 and 20 at the Shawsheen Fields. The tournament will put Wilmington up against the other top teams in Division 1 for the championship.

Under 10B soccer boys team did it

We did it! The Wilmington boys U10B travel soccer team completed its season last Saturday with another victory to end with a 9-0-1 record and thereby earned a trip to the Commissioners' Cup this year!

The team traveled to Stoneham to play their last regular season match, and again displayed an amazing amount of teamwork and skill that lead to their victory. Patrick Ryan was fantastic in net, once again being unbeatable between the posts.

Justin Patrie was first to score for the Wildcats, assisted by a perfectly placed pass from forward Jesse Belding. Matthew Brooks and Derek DeRosa were solid as sweepers, foiling several Stoneham attacks. Derek Hanson, James Cuoco and Pat Schultz showed amazing hustle, simply outrunning their opponents and beating them to the ball in midfield virtually every time. As is the story with this team throughout the season, teamwork and passing is what places this team above the rest. Our second and third goals of the day are great examples.

In the second goal, C.J. Jeannette fired off a shot that was blocked, and quickly Dan Patterson and Chris Azevedo were all over that ball. Patterson fed the ball over to Azevedo who was in perfect position to knock in goal number two.

In the second half, the third goal came with sharp 1-2-3 passing as Jesse Belding one-touched the ball to Patrick Ryan who one-touched it to the on running Justin Patrie who called for the ball knowing that he had the best angle for the shot. He did and fired the ball with determination into the goal. Derek DeRosa made the defensive play of the, as he fought off four Stoneham players trying to take a shot on net. DeRosa stuck to that ball until he was finally able to clear it out of the zone. Cuoco, Ryan and Belding all narrowly missed at other scoring opportunities, but it was the support of the midfielders, Patrie, Patterson, Schultz and Azevedo that won the day.

The boys have grown as a team throughout the season and have been this successful because they play as a total unit. We are hopeful that this style of play will also prove to be successful as we play in our first ever Commissioner's Cup competition in Wilmington June 19 and 20.

Final score: Wilmington 3: Stoneham 1.

Stoneham's Barbara Mahoney

73 and feisty

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

At 75 years old many people take advantage of their local senior center for many different reasons.

Basically the center provides a good, healthy social life and is also a place where a healthy, active person living alone can check in on friends and happenings in the community.

At 75 years old, Barbara Mahoney is a regular at the Senior Center in Stoneham. However, as the executive director of the Council on Aging she has to go there daily to make sure the programs which the others take part in and enjoy, are being run properly.

Mahoney is credited by many with rebuilding Stoneham's Senior Center and when the building was finished two years ago, the Town decided that it would also be a good location for the Board of Health nurses the veteran's agent, the Youth Commission director and the Town's Employees and Retirement Insurance Department. As a result, Mahoney, at 73 years old, well past the time when most people are ready to retire, became the Director of Community Health and Human Services.

"I have no desire to retire, said Mahoney who works a full 35 hours plus per week.

She added, "It's really great being the director and working with people who know their business and just go about what they are doing. Everything runs very smoothly."

The Senior Center itself is like Mahoney. It is the former Alms House and one of only a few left standing in the commonwealth.

However, shortly after Mahoney, married to former Selectman John "Jack" Mahoney, joined the Council's Board of Directors, an inspection of the building showed that it was in terrible disrepair.

"They (the Town) wanted to tear it down," Mahoney said.

"However, the seniors and I fought it and said we would find the funding."

Mahoney recalls the fight to find that money, in the form of a $750,000 state grant, took five years and in the meantime the Town got behind the project and appropriated $1.4 million for the restoration.

"We didn't spend it all and some of the money has been set aside for upkeep and maintenance of the building."

State Senator Richard Tisei (R-Third Middlesex) remembers the fight to get the state grant.

"I've known Barbara for 10 years," Sen. Tisei said. "She just amazes me. She does tremendous things."

According to Tisei, Mahoney worked very hard on getting the funding for the restoration project. When the Town of Stoneham did not get the money on the first try, instead of giving up, Mahoney kept on persevering until the Commonwealth of Massachusetts came through.

As a result Stoneham has a showplace for a Senior Center.

"The seniors really love this Mahoney to S-4

Health grant for Lynnfield

"The Lynnfield Public Library has been awarded a $6,000 Library Services and Technology Act grant administered through the Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"The funds will be used to purchase health-related books, audiotapes and videos in addition to sponsoring a variety of health related programs. The programs will be focused on Senior Health Issues and will be offered both at the Library and at the Lynnfield Senior Center."

"Materials will address general health issues as well as those specific to the senior population. The library will also be working with the schools to purchase materials to support the health curriculum as well as addressing topics of concern for Lynnfield youth. The materials purchased with this grant will be specially marked and located in the New Book area."

Tourists to Tewksbury

"Tourism to the Merrimack Valley has nearly doubled in the past five years, according to Maureen Bliss, Executive Director of the newly formed Greater Merrimack Valley Convention and Visitors Bureau (GMVCVB)," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"And, with hope of an additional boost of funding in the range of $25,000 from selectmen, Bliss is hoping to increase the awareness of the assets Tewksbury has to offer visitors."

"Bliss along with Chairman of the Board of Directors for GMVCVB Christian Panasuk, pitched a rough draft proposal to selectmen, regarding the newly added visitors center, in hopes they would be able to contribute funds in addition to the $391,000 state grant the center operates on annually. The center is a non-profit organization that supports the marketing efforts of the entire region in order to increase the amount of tourism dollars that are returned to the state and local towns.

"According to Bliss, tourism is the third largest industry in the state of Massachusetts, bringing a total of $12 billion a year, and is supported by the profit of the states 9.7% hotel tax rate. Panasuk says, "The lodging facilities in Tewksbury have seen tremendous growth." Bliss said she does not expect Tewksbury to donate as much, but composed a figure of $25,000 as sufficient, a number that raised the eyebrows of every selectmen.

"After agreeing that the issue needed much more in-depth discussion before any funds are distributed, selectmen John Ryan building," Mahoney said. "They call it their home away from home."

Mahoney

Mahoney has been the executive director for nine, going on 10 years now. She started on the Board of Directors, shortly after marrying Jack and moving to Stoneham.

"He's very active and got me into all of this stuff," Mahoney said.

As much as Mahoney claims her husband got her into the position, it is her own talent and work ethic that keeps her there.

It all started when Mahoney felt she was getting old and wanted to know more about the aging process. As a result, a woman who did not finish high school because she needed to go to work, started to take classes at North Shore Community College and went on to get an Associates Degree in Gerontology and Social Welfare. In 1992 she transferred to the University of Massachusetts where she eventually received her Bachelor of Arts.

"In the meantime they were going to shut down the senior center," Mahoney recalled. "We fought to keep it open."

When the former executive director of the Council left, Mahoney volunteered to "...handle the business end just to keep it open until something better came along."

The rest as it is said, "is history."

Mahoney notes that she has learned a lot about being older.

One of the major things that Mahoney has learned is "Illness is the enemy, not aging."

According to Mahoney, she learns something new about the aging process on a daily basis and her lessons from experience are quite a bit different than the classroom lessons.

She was the victim of a stroke about five years ago. However, it did not slow her down.

Mahoney works on the philosophy that, "Chronic illness is going to catch up with you one way or another. As long as you can function, that's the ticket."

According to Mahoney, a person's attitude is the important factor.

As for getting more work with the added position, Mahoney said, "I find it better to have both jobs. We have staff meetings and ideas are born."

"I like working with other people."

Mahoney also enjoys the meetings and conferences she is able to attend as the director of two different groups of people.

"There is always someone there I can learn from," she said.

Working in the health and human services field helps her deal better with the needs of some of the seniors.

"It brings me the knowledge of the networks and the changes," she said.

One of the changes Mahoney is watching very closely is in the Medicare cuts that are being proposed.

"They are just devastating, at this time," she said.

Mahoney is a member of the Board of Directors for the Mystic Valley Elder Services and as such is getting a first hand look at the effects of the cutbacks in home care services to the elderly.

On a positive note, as the director of both town agencies, Mahoney finds that she is better able to coordinate services to those that need them, especially those services provided by the Board of Health nurses.

"I have to know what (the nurses) do and when they'll be back," Mahoney said.

Mahoney also finds that she ends up working very closely with Youth Director Christine Del Rossi on inter-generational projects.

As a result the two received an award from the Stoneham

MIDDLESEX EAST appearing in Daily Times - Chronicle (Reading, Woburn, Winchester, Burlington, Wakefield), Lynnfield Villager, Reading Update, No. Reading Transcript, Wilmington & Tewksbury Town Crier, Stoneham Independent

BY PAUL FERLY

NORTH READING'S KATIE KELLEHER

a junior at Seton Hall University, turned in one of the best diving seasons in the history of the school this past year, and was rewarded for her efforts by being named Junior Female Athlete of the Year.

She had an impressive 14 victories in dual meet competitions, recording nine wins in the three meter springboard event and five victories in the one meter springboard event.

She took part in the Big East championships, and placed fourth in the ten meter platform competition.

She was also chosen by the school to participate in the 1999 Leadership Conference, which was sponsored by the NCAA Foundation.

For all of these efforts, she was voted team MVP and will be a tricapitain during her senior season.

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION

In 1968, the horse that finished first in the Kentucky Derby was disqualified because it had run with an illegal substance in its system. Name the horse which was disqualified and the horse which was awarded first place. Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

STONEHAM'S STEVE PADOVANI

recently completed his sophomore season with the Northeastern baseball team. His best stretch came April 7-15, when he hit .520 (13-25) scoring nine runs and driving in three. He compiled a six-game hitting streak.

Padovani is expected to challenge to start at second or short-stop next season. The Huskies finished the season with a record of 28-21 overall.

WILMINGTON'S JOE MARTINELLO

is a member of the Bentley College men's track team. He was a member of the 4x100 relay team that finished third at the Vern Cox Invitational outdoor track meet with a time of 44.55 seconds.

High School Community Service Learning Class for two years of work on a special inter-generational project.

As Mahoney said, if she were forced into retirement, it would not be the end of her work.

For those people who think they are ready to retire, perhaps they should look at the full life these two family people live.

READING'S TOM FRATTO

had a good senior season for the UMass-Lowell River Hawks baseball team. He played in all 45 games this season, starting 44 of them. He hit .359 on the season with 42 runs and 44 RBIs. He had nine home runs on the season, which was tied for second most on the team. He was named to the Second Team, All-New England Collegiate Conference.

Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia question? The horse that was disqualified was named Dancer's Image.

STONEHAM'S JACK KELLEY

recently scored a hole-in-one at the Meadow Brook Gold Club in Reading. He holed out a six iron from 145 yards on the 16th hole. It is the third hole in one he has managed to sink.

WAKEFIELD'S AUDIE F. BRIDGES will be competing in this year's Isuzu Ironman USA Lake Placid Triathlon on August 15.

The Triathlon is one of 10 official Ironman triathlon races that qualifies athletes for the prestigious Ironman Triathlon World Championship, held in Hawaii. The race had reached the limit of 1,500 competitors just one month after entries became available, making it one of the most popular races in the world. In all, athletes from almost 30 different countries will compete in the event.

The event includes 2.4 miles of swimming, 112 miles of biking, and 26.2 miles of running.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION

The horse that was disqualified was named Dancer's Image, and the horse that was awarded first place was named Forward Pass. Congratulations to those that knew the answer, and look next week for another trivia question.

Expanded neonatology coverage for moms

Hallmark Health, New England Medical Center and the Floating Hospital for Children has announced an affiliation that brings neonatology coverage 24 hours a day to Hallmark Health, one of the largest health care systems in Massachusetts located just north of Boston. The two-year affiliation is part of a strategy to build comprehensive services for women and children within Hallmark Health.

"We are extremely pleased that this affiliation immediately enhances the services we provide for our patients," says Ted Butler, M.D., senior vice president for medical affairs for Hallmark Health. "It is the first step toward increasing our capabilities to care for sick infants and children as we work toward building a special care nursery."

The neonatology coverage enables a board-certified neonatologist to attend deliveries and provide consultations for new borns in the Nursery as requested by pediatricians or obstetricians. The neonatologist also consults with families prenatally regarding issues that may affect their new born, such as anomalies detected on ultrasound and pre-term labor, and will participate in appropriate clinical training of the Hallmark staff.

The number of births of Hallmark Health has been increasing and is expected to significantly increase during 1999 to approximately 2000 births (projections are based on year-to-date admissions). Hallmark Health's medical staff includes 25 obstetricians and 6 family practitioners who deliver babies, as well as a midwifery program.

To meet the increasing demand and continue its long standing tradition of outstanding maternity care, Hallmark Health is undertaking a major initiative to enhance services for women and children. Recently, the Board of Trustees of Hallmark Health recently approved plans for a special care nursery which is currently in its design phase.

The design, created with input from physicians, nursing and other health professionals at Hallmark Health, will be presented for approval to the Massachusetts Department of Health. Construction is expected to begin later this year.

The second phase of the project will create a new postpartum and well-newborn nursery and the third phase will enhance the existing Labor/Delivery/Recovery (LDR) rooms and add two new LDRs, an antenatal testing center, a triage suite and new operating room. The second and third phases are expected to be completed during the year 2001.

More information on Hallmark Health can be found on the World Wide Web at www.hallmarkhealth.org.

What about elderly housing for boomers?

Publicly supported housing for older adults, as we know it today, has only been in existence for the past 40 years. Most housing stock for "elders" has been developed since the mid-1960's. Major legislation enacted during this period included Medicare, Medicaid, the Older American's Act, and for subsidized housing advocates and consumers. Sections 202 and 8 of the Housing Acts of 1959.

Section 202 provided subsidized construction loans to build no-frill apartments for low-income elders, and later disabled persons. Basic shelter was thus available for those who could live by themselves, but who lacked the income to afford decent and safe housing. A companion section, Section 8 served as the source of rental subsidies.

In many states, including Massachusetts, policy makers created state housing finance agencies to develop additional units for functionally independent but economically needy older persons.

However, the intriguing questions are, "What about housing for older persons in the future? Will we be prepared as a society to anticipate and meet the shelter and service needs of a diverse and growing older population in the 21st Century?"

By 2020, the number of older Americans will have more than doubled in number to over 62,000,000. Sheer quantity will not be the key factor to ponder. Lifestyle choices, delays in the onset of physical frailty, greater numbers experiencing dementia, and advances in medical and communication technologies will all add up to a "true revolution in the field of senior housing."

A glimpse into my crystal ball shows:

Most people won't start thinking about senior housing until their mid 70's.

People aged 90 to 100 years and older will make up larger percentages of the senior housing population

Very frail persons as well as those with varying stages of dementia will stay safely and longer in senior housing.

There will be two diverse generations in elder housing: the very old; and their children who are in their seventies! Housing managers and sponsors will have to learn how to satisfy two demographic groups with different life experiences and divergent expectations.

Long-term supportive services will be delivered. Meals, personal care, medication management and basic nursing care will be routinely available.

The architectural and physical nature of new housing complexes will look like the neighborhoods in which they are located and will reflect less of a cookie cutter design.

Most striking of all, elder housing will be developed right where people have been living and want to stay in their own homes.

As Robert Browning wrote over 100 years ago "come grow old with me, the best is yet to be."

MOVIE REVIEWS

BY PAUL FEELY

"Instinct" doesn't live up to hype

MOVIE: "INSTINCT"
GRADE: **

Review: If the latest 'Star Wars' was the most anticipated movie of the summer for younger movie-goers, then 'Instinct' may be the most anticipated film for adult viewers.

The movie stars Anthony Hopkins as a scientist who goes to live with a pack of apes, and slowly takes on their characteristics. Cuba Gooding, Jr., plays a therapist assigned to study the scientist, and attempt to rehabilitate him to re-enter human society.

Hopkins is very good as the ape-like scientist, and is believable during the scenes when he is closer to beast than man. Gooding is almost as good, and these two performances help lift the film above a somewhat familiar plotline.

'Instinct' may not live up to the hype (trailers anticipating its arrival have been playing since late last year), but it is a god alternative to 'Star Wars' for anyone who likes a good drama.

SHORTTAKES
MOVIE: "STAR WARS
EPISODE I: THE PHANTOM MENACE"
GRADE: ***

Review: Don't believe the hype about how bad this latest installment of the highly successful series is.

To read the early reviews, one would have thought George

Lucas' prequel to the Star Wars trilogy was a complete dud, and that people who had purchased advance tickets a week ahead of opening night would be asking for their money back.

The truth is that if you enjoy the first three films, or are a science fiction fan, you will love this movie. The effects are literally like nothing you have ever seen before, as Lucas' own company Industrial Light and Magic went overboard to keep the boss happy on this, the most-anticipated movie of the summer.

Liam Neeson is good as Qui-Jon Quan, a Jedi Knight, while Ewan MacGregor isn't allowed to shine as Obi-Wan Kenobi until the last half hour of the film. Jake Lloyd's much-maligned performance as a young Anakin Skywalker, the child who will grow up to be Darth Vader from the first three films, isn't all bad, although he does completely blow a few lines during the starship battle that is part of the film's climax.

A completely computer-generated character, Jar-Jar Binks, is incredibly annoying, as you are able to decipher exactly what stupid mind-numbing comic antic he is about to perform next long before it happens. It is also almost impossible to understand him.

Another drawback is the use of stereotypical accents for various aliens. One alien, who runs a gambling operation, speaks with what sounds like an Italian accent, while two of the main bad guys talk with Asian-sounding accents.

MOVIE: "ENTRAPMENT"
GRADE: **

Review: Sean Connery puts his powerful screen presence to good use as an aging master thief in this high-tech thriller, which almost saves it from a weak plot and believability problems.

Connery plays a thief who specializes in breaking seemingly impenetrable security systems, who is targeted by former FBI agent and current security expert Will Patton as the top suspect in a string of art thefts. He sends a beautiful young woman, played by Catherine Zeta-Jones, to try and trap Connery. The twist is, she has her own plans for him and a heist that could net both of them $8 billion.

The suffers from the fact that there is little doubt that Jones and Connery will become romantically linked right from the start, despite the huge age

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

Star gazers party in Reading

The students at the Barrows Elementary School were the recipients recently of a donation by the Amateur Telescope Makers of Boston (ATMOB), consisting of astronomy related books," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"This isn't the first time the group has stepped to the plate with a donation intended to launch local students' imaginations into the stratosphere. The titles donated this time were: 'Challenger: America's Space Tragedy' by Michael Cole; 'Pluto' by Robert Daily; 'Greek and Roman Mythology A to Z' by Kathleen Daly; 'Greek Myths' by Jacqueline Morley; 'The Sun' by Seymour Simon; 'Mars' by Seymour Simon; and 'The Sun' by Gregory Vogt.

"The ATMOB group has been very active in the Reading school system, due to the hard work of Reading resident Charles McDonald, who often acts as a liaison between the club and the schools.

"Astronomers active within the group have conducted many 'Star Parties' at the local schools, which have grown in popularity over the last year. Students gather outside the schools at night with parents and a few volunteers from the group, and are given the opportunity to look at all the celestial sights the heavens have to offer..."

Science fares well in North Reading

"We all want our money to grow, but do we know what's growing on the money?" asks the "North Reading Transcript."

"In fact, you may not want to know, according to Jeanne Luongo, a junior at North Reading High School and one of 14 participants in last week's Science Fair.

"Luongo won a first place award for her project, 'What is growing on our money?' in which she tested her hypothesis that common currency is a breeding ground for common bacteria.

difference in the characters.

The stunts are predictable but enjoyable, but the happy ending leaves a lot to be desired. As far as summer blockbusters go, this one will leave you wanting something more for your money. Rated: R

Starlight stars bright

"The results? Well, if you really want to know, Luongo found several different bacteria thriving on U.S. currency, the most common of which was staphylococcus. She also found bacteria more prevalent on paper currency than coins.

"Other first prize winners were David Bailey who tested the results of music on concentration, Kristen Callahan, who measured whether smell affects a person's mood and Nicole Zimmerman, who tested the flammability of fabrics.

"For his project, Bailey and several friends tested how various kinds of music affected their concentration in the game Perfection.

"Bailey did not find a marked correlation between different types of music and loss of concentration. (Opera vs. orchestra music had no measurable effect, for example.) But he did find songs with understandable lyrics deterred concentration.

"Then there was Paula Welsh, another junior, who won a third place prize for her project measuring the relative speed of popular web browsers in downloading internet web pages.

"Welsh's conclusions? Surprisingly, she found the race for speed went not to Microsoft Internet Explorer or Netscape, the two giant browsers that dominate the market. Instead, Welsh found the fastest browser to be relatively unknown Opera 3.51, which she said beat out Explorer and Netscape in downloading simple as well as elaborate web pages.

"Altogether, 75 N.R.H.S. students completed research projects in botany, human behavior, bacteria growth, pollution, computer science, chemistry and physics. From this group, 14 students with outstanding projects were selected to participate in the fair..."

Mentors network in Stoneham

"Thanks to a Goals 2000 Preservice grant, the Stoneham Public School System is about to begin training new mentors, notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"The grant, which was awarded to Stoneham and Medford, allows the two districts to develop a network of mentors who will assist each other in determining the needs of new teachers to their respective systems. In addition, the grant allows for the creation of a formalized Induction Year Plan, which is required by the Massachusetts Education Reform Act.

"Mentor programs pair a teacher who is new to the district with a veteran teacher. The job of the mentor is to provide regular structured support to the new teacher. According to an article in an April, 1996 NASSP publication, 'A new teacher who feels supported by colleagues and administrators can avoid the 'sink or swim' trauma of the first year in the classroom. Students win by having a teacher with more confidence. Mentors of new teachers gain 'refresher ideas' in their training and in working closely with their new colleagues. Administrators also find support from the veteran teachers in their staff development efforts."

"The two districts will participate in a course with their college partner, Simmons Graduate School of Education. The course will focus on techniques and practices used in addressing the diverse needs of new teachers. The first meeting will take place in March with subsequent classes to be held in the late spring or early summer.

"Several years ago, under a similar Goals 2000 grant, seven mentors were trained and have been serving as mentors in the systems since that time. Mentors, as a result, meet with new teachers in late August to welcome and introduce them to Stoneham. The new teachers receive welcome gifts, a luncheon and often a tour of the town.

"Our new mentors will be a welcome addition to this existing group of trained mentors in the Stoneham Public Schools."

said, "I think we should also refer this to a subcommittee. I also think it is incumbent for your office to tell the town of Tewksbury how they would benefit from donating this money. If we were to spend $25,000, I think we would want to know how we would get that back. We need a lot more information."

"Constructed by the Mass Highway Department, the GMVCVB opened in November of 1998, situated in the north-bound section of I-495, just north of Route 3, provides a rest stop for travelers seeking limited refreshments, telephones and restroom facilities, along with valuable information about services and businesses in the surrounding area...."

'Wild things' in Winchester

"Wild things made hearts sing at the 1999 Beaux Arts Ball, with more than 200 people packing a transformed Town Hall auditorium to celebrate and support arts in Winchester," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Proceeds from the ninth annual gala event support Winchester school art programs. "The ball's theme this year, 'Wild Thing,' was chosen for its artistic possibilities and to play off the name of the new band hired for this year's dance, 'Wildest Dreams,' a six-piece, world beat ensemble that had the crowd on its feet.

"Attendees ran with the theme to varying degrees, including top prize winner Jane Graham, who transformed herself into a platinum blond satyr of sorts.

"Others, such as Alice and Jeff Tingley, sported antique lamp shades, anchored by hats and artfully decorated with colorful scarves; while art teachers Terry Lannon and Leslie Ewing, wrapped in vines and wearing leopard prints, dressed a la 'Tarzan and Jane.'

"Still others interpreted 'wild' in a variety of ways, from outrageous ties to Hawaiian shirts, daringly short hemlines and even a few fur coats.

"The Town Hall auditorium was a delight, bedecked with strands of white lights which highlighted the student artwork which hung from the balcony and adorned every table, wall and railing space in the room.

"Different projects included sculptures, paintings, book marks, a computer art display using photographs of actual Winchester locations 'gone wild,' an interactive 'create a wild face' exhibit, a giant sculpture worked on by some 200 sixth graders, and more.

"The students' 'wild things' were also interpreted in a variety of ways, with some drawings showing 'African animals in their environment,' and some sculptures representing imagined wild things.

"Art Department head David Ardito said an open house for students held earlier in the evening 'was mobbed with kids' who came to see their work on display...."

"Don't Just Pack It, Wear Your Jacket."

Preschoolers love the "homework" that accompanies each safety lesson. On "Graduation Day", swimmers must venture through "Alligator Alley" then jump into the alligator's mouth before receiving their certificates outlining their specific accomplishments in the water.

In addition to NSSA conferences in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, Nanc has recently attended the Red Cross' new Guard Start program, specifically geared toward 11 to 14 year olds. This course, which Nanc will teach in future months, will prepare preteens to become life-guard aides.

An old saying, "Different Folks, Different STROKES" that goes also for the customs of different countries. Like, I remember when my cousin Mario told his Irish born wife Kathleen, "My father told me that when he and my mother took their afternoon walk on the Via Veneto in Italy she was required to walk TWO PACES behind him. " "So WHAT?" Kathleen asked. "Well," Mario asked, "Do you Suppose that you can do the same on our Sunday afternoon walk on Revere Beach?" (I forgot to tell you, Maureen is a Red-Head with a Temper to match). She exploded with, "Mario, do YOU know how to STUFF PEP-PERS?"

Yogi Berra you have your match locally in my friend, Blackie Vega who said, "Chipper, if it wasn't FREE, No one would buy it.

Jimmy Dean said, I can't change the direction of the WIND BUT-I can adjust my sails to reach my destination."

Arthur Marino said, "They say that hard work never killed anyone BUT, I don't want to take a chance and be the FIRST one."

Jay Bianchi told me, "Chipper, I read your column every week and YOU are next to an IDIOT!"

"Gee Thanks," I told him,

"But don't feel bad, I think the world of you anyway."

Mike D'Agostino said, "They put a bell around a bull's neck in case his HORNS don't work."

Uncle John made almost a million dollars making Designer Jeans but, LOST it all on one SKIRT.

My cousin Angelo Quaganti plays the Arkansas State Lottery. The jack pot this week is for 3 million dollars - the winner will receive $3 per year for a million years.

Two year ago while on vacation, Sid Levine's house was robbed of $500. This year, he left all the lights Lit, the radio and TV's on and he went on his two weeks vacation. The noise scared any would-be burglary BUT his electric bill was for $250.

Casey Stengel former manager of the New York Yankees said, "the secret of my success as a manager was my ability to keep the four guys who HATED me away from the five who hadn't made up their minds yet.

Pool School Plus offers unique swim program

Pool School Plus, a new business in the Merrimack Valley, has taken swimming lessons to a new level. Opening in September, 1998, co-founders Nanc Dumont and Lynn Tilley have developed a system of Learn to Swim lessons which, at first sight, does not seem out of the ordinary. However, upon closer scrutiny, you ask yourself, "Where are the bubbles?" Pool School Plus is the culmination of Dumont's dream which started in her backyard pool 19 years ago.

Based on the philosophy of the National Swim School Association, of which Pool School Plus is a member, Dumont developed a program of 20 swim levels which gradually and gingerly progress children from six months of age up through a course of lessons which never introduce the standard practice of attaching floatation "bubbles" onto non-swimmers. Their theory is that if a child is introduced to the water in a fun but gentle manner, they will develop a comfort level under the water as well as on top. They have had success teaching two year olds to swim in 10 feet of water, and knows that this method works, is fast and perfect for the short New England summer swimming season.

Pool School Plus teaches children to swim with their faces in the water first. All lessons create a fun atmosphere of mermaids, sharks and high fives. Children do not realize that they are learning skills while playing zany games.

Formerly of North Meadow Health & Racquet Club, Nanc and Lynn ventured out on their own to pursue their dream of creating little swimmers. Since drowning is the leading cause of death for a child under the age of five, they geared their program initially toward preschoolers. In September of 1998, they announced their first lessons at Therafit, 176 Walker St., Lowell. Therafit's brand new 90 degree therapy pool was exactly what they were searching for. Their summer program boasts four facilities and numerous backyard pool sites. Operating out of Therafit, NE Rehab Hospital in Salem, New Hampshire, New England Tennis in Middleton and Rolling Ridge in No. Andover, Pool School Plus has a lesson schedule for everybody.

POOL SCHOOL PLUS student, Jordan Freeman enjoys a swim. The school offers swimming and water safety lessons at four local facilities or in your own backyard.

Also setting apart Pool

School Plus from the norm, is the school's focus on safety. Before each lesson, a five minute safety lecture is conducted. Based on the Red Cross Whales Tales program, a series of talks takes the child from "Look Before You Leap" to

Suburban office market remains healthy in 1999

It doesn't seem that long ago last Fall when the Dow was down 1700 points, the Capital Markets were in disarray, and predictions of a downturn in the real estate market were becoming widespread. New development projects were put on hold, companies postponed expansion plans, and purchase agreements were being terminated or renegotiated at lower prices.

However, by the end of the year the Dow had fully recovered, the Capital Markets had stabilized and predictions for 1999 turned upbeat. This event will probably be remembered as just a bump in the road in an otherwise long running up-cycle that shows no sign of slowing.

Driven by a strong local economy, a lack of available space in Downtown Boston and a strong demand from growing hi-tech, telecommunications and internet related companies, the suburban office market remains healthy.

In spite of the addition of 3 million square feet of new space in 1998, the vacancy rates for the first quarter of 1999 remained stable at 8.26%, up 1% from a year ago.

Rental rates in the first quarter of 1999 have stabilized with demand staying in balance with supply. The average overall rental rate stands at $20.75 per sq. ft., up slightly from the end of 1998. Absorption of space was aided by the following significant lease transactions: GTE's lease of 290,000 sq. ft. at Van De Graff Dr. in Burlington, BMC Software's lease of 176,000 sq. ft. at Waltham Woods, Parexel's lease of 170,000 sq. ft. at West St. in Waltham, and Renaissance Software's lease of 200,000 sq. ft. at Second Ave in Waltham.

For the remainder of the year, the suburban office market should continue to benefit from the shortage of space in Downtown Boston where vacancies remain below 4%. Even though there are several new office projects planned for the city, this space is not expected to come on-line until the year 2002. This should bode well for the suburban office market for the next 2-3 years, even with the expected increase in inventory due to new construction. Barring any unforeseen surprises, we expect vacancies and rental rates to remain stable for the balance of 1999.

R&D And Industrial Markets

The R&D market had a bumpy ride during the past year and was impacted by a number of mergers, acquisitions and consolidations, particularly in the hi-tech sector. That, coupled with the addition of new inventory, pushed the vacancy rate close to 10% at the end of the first quarter of 1999.

Scholarships for real estate professionals

The Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR) Charitable and Educational Foundation has announced the availability of a new series of educational grants for individuals pursuing a professional designation or degree program in real estate or another industry-related field.

This year, four $500 educational scholarships are available through the MAR Charitable & Educational Foundation's 1999 Scholarship Fund. To be eligible to receive a scholarship, students must be a resident of Massachusetts pursuing a college-level educational degree program or professional designation (ie. GRI, CRS, CRB, CCIM, CPM, CREA, SIOR, ALC, LTC) in real estate or another industry-related field of study. Applications are welcome from both MAR members and the public, however trustees of the Foundation, members of their immediate family, and relatives of the association president are ineligible to receive scholarship funds.

Qualified applicants must complete a one page application form and submit it to the MAR Charitable and Educational Foundation by August 1, 1999. Selected applicants also will be required to appear before the Foundation's Scholarship Committee to complete a personal interview.

Real estate licensees and others interested in learning more about the MAR Charitable and Educational Foundation's 1999 Scholarship Fund may contact their local Board of Realtors or the MAR Customers Service Department at 800-725-6272 to obtain a brochure and application form.

Summer fun a burglar's paradise

Summer fun often means day trips to the park and extended vacations anything to get out of the house and enjoy the warm weather. While it is a good time to be on the go, it is also a good time for your home to be burglarized.

According to the Automobile Association of America, a record-setting 33.3 million Americans have planned a summer getaway this year, making it more important than ever to assess your home's security needs, says Bob Baker, national manager for home security at Sears HomeCentral.

"More than 2.5 million homes are burglarized each year, and when you're on vacation for a week your home can be a sitting duck," Baker says. "This is the perfect time to reassess your security needs."

REAL ESTATE SAMPLER

This Week...
Woburn

An ageless beauty

This week's sampler features a pretty turn-of-the-century home that will be celebrating its 100th birthday very soon. Here is a fine example of time-honored design with nooks and crannies and a convenient location. With gracious entertaining areas for family and friends and

Pass through a three-season porch and enter the inviting foyer with views of a turned staircase, front parlor and formal dining room...just as you'd envision from yesteryear. At the rear of the home is an up-to-date, eat-in kitchen. Adjacent to the kitchen is a family room home offers tremendous versatility.

Some of the outstanding amenities to be found in this residence are a new furnace with two heating zones, all new replacement windows, an updated electric system, fenced yard, hardwood flooring, two full baths and a fantastic location.

Woburn was one of the earliest established towns in the Commonwealth. Its early farming areas soon gave way to prof-a spacious and versatile floor plan, the house hunter searching for the perfect Colonial will be highly impressed with this offering, and price of only $239,900.

Located in a lovely residential area just minutes from Routes 93, 95, and 128, commuters can appreciate the easy access to Boston and the high-tech areas around Routes 128 and 495. Also nearby, you'll find schools, buses and shopping.

Burglar's paradise

From S-14

One area that homeowners often neglect protecting is their attached garage, says Steve Schmidt, national manager of retail installation for Sears HomeCentral.

"The garage is often the weakest spot in a person's home security system because they forget to keep the door locked, or they forget to keep the door that separates the garage and the house locked," Schmidt says.

Several news magazines have done stories about garage door openers and the ease with which burglars can open them using remote controls from other units or "grabbers," devices that capture the coded signal that triggers the opener. One way to prevent unauthorized access to your garage, and many times your home, is to have a Security Plus garage door opener with rolling code technology like the Craftsman Silent Drive Installed, Schmidt says.

In addition to Schmidt's advice about garage doors, Baker urges homeowners to make sure their security system has the following:

- UL certification - Make sure your monitoring service has Underwriter Laboratory (UL) certification. UL certification requires monitoring companies to meet standards that will ensure your security system continues protecting your home in the event the power fails or other problems occur.

- Complete security - Make sure you have a complete security package in order to fully protect your home. A full package should include: door contacts, motion detectors, smoke alarms and a user-friendly key pad.

- Latest technology - You should have the most current technology on the market. Some new options offered by Sears Home Security by ADT include: Quick Key, a push-button device that enables or disables your security system from a distance; Cyber Angel, a security system for your personal computer and closed circuit television monitors.

- All day, all night - Make sure your security company will monitor your service 24 hours a opening to the deck overlooking a fenced yard. Most of the first floor and all of the second floor offer hardwood floors and new ceilings.

The second story features three airy bedrooms and a lovely sitting room for a quiet getaway. A rear stairway on the second floor offers a private exit for this level. More bedroom space on the third floor is a terrific bonus for a buyer needing additional living space. This itable industry. Among Woburn's most famous citizens were Charles Goodyear and Colonial Loammi Baldwin. It was in Woburn that Goodyear accidentally invented the process of vul-

tem. In fact, the sounder system releases noise if phone lines are cut.

If you have any questions about your security system or are considering having a system installed, Sears HomeCentral has trained technicians available to answer your questions and perform the installation. Call 1-800-4-MY-HOME 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

canization when he dropped some rubber and sulphur on a hot stove.

Colonel Baldwin, creator of the Baldwin apple, was a noted engineer and builder of the Middlesex Canal, which was a vital economic link to Boston over a century ago around the time when Six Cleveland Avenue was constructed. Woburn is now a small residential city with a number of diversified industries.
